Rhodes Unveils $2.04 Billion Budget

OHIO GOV. JAMES A. RHODES is shown addressing a joint session of the legislature in Columbus Tuesday night when he submitted a proposed two-year operating budget of $2.04 billion. In addition to his budget address he gave his "Condition of the State" speech, where he noted that nearly half of the general fund would be allocated to education. (UPI Telephoto)

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has unveiled a proposed two-year operating budget of $2.04 billion and asserted it can help Ohio become the leading state in all vital fields in the next decade.

Rhodes outlined the document Tuesday night before a joint session of the General Assembly, linking it to his proposal for an Ohio Bond Commission to finance long - term capital improvements.

"The Ohio Bond Commission can create jobs. It can help fight the greatest blight against the individual — unemployment. It deserves complete support," Rhodes told the lawmakers.

He spoke before a battery of television cameras and mircophones in a House chamber jampacked with legislators, administration officials, and their families. His combined budget and State of the State address came on the eve of his departure on an Asian trade mission.

"I am pleased to report that the condition of the state is strong and the budget, which I submit herewith, is in balance," Rhodes began.

He went on to give a breakdown of the operating budget, which did not include spending of non-tax supported liquor, wildlife, federal highway funds, and other areas which would boost spending for the two years beginning July 1 to $4.947 buillion.

The governor said proposed spending for general operations in the next two years would be $2.045 billion, up about $288 million from the current biennium.

Nearly half the total was earmarked for all levels of education which the governor described as "the No. 1 priority of this administration." Total spending for all forms of education in the current biennium was $843 million.

He said nearly 30 per cent of the total, or $595 million, would go for welfare. Slightly more than 15 per cent, or $308 million, would finance health and correctional services while $149 million—the remaining six per cent—would run the three branches of government.

Highway appropriations would be carried in a separate category totaling about $1.2 billion, up about $200 million.

Rhodes reminded the lawmakers that Ohio already is the No. 1 state in industrial development. He listed 16 other areas of potential leadership, including education, job opportunities, and water pollution control. Others were automobile manufacturing, research and development, highways, parks and recreation, tourism, airport facilities, and exports.

In nearly every case, Rhodes plugged for passage of the bond commission proposal which should clear the legislature this week and then go before voters in a statewide election. The proposed commission could float bonds without voter approval for imprvements in nearly every category he listed.

The governor said the bond commission proposal "sets up authority for the executive and legislative branches of government to work together to provide facilities that the state and local communities actually need for efficient government in the years ahead."

He added: "The bond commission can provide jobs, growth and progress into the next century."

The chief executive also urged approval of the legislative reapportionment proposal which is to go on the same statewide ballot with the bond commission. "For the first time in the history of this state, every voter

Stop To Cultural Revolution

Mao Seen Giving Chou Power To Spur Economy

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star reported today that Mao Tse-tung has given Premier Chou En-lai full executive powers to stop Mao's cultural revolution purge and restore China's economy.

The Star said its report came from "its own sources inside China" but did not identify them further.

The Star's report coincided with an announcement by the Hong Kong government that Red China's exports to Hong Kong, its biggest market, dropped more than $8.2 million in January. Trade circles blamed the upheaval caused by Mao's purge and predicted Chinese exports would drop still further.

The Star, an English-language tabloid published and edited by Australians, also said Defense Minister Lin Piao had disagreed with Mao over several aspects of the purge.

Lin Piao is believed by many Western observers in Hong Kong to be the guiding power behind Mao, but the Star quoted its sources as saying Lin believed Mao had gone too far in five specific cases or areas:

—The purge punishment of army chief of staff Lo Jui-ching was, in Lin's opinion, too harsh. Earlier reports from China indicate that Lo was expelled from his job, publicly humiliated, and then arrested.

—The cultural revolution should not have been extended to the army.

—Hsiao Hua should not have been purged from his job as director of the political bureau of the army.

—There should have been no demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking and there should have been no violent demonstrations against Soviet women and children at the Peking airport.

—Mao's cultural revolution should not have been allowed to interfere with agriculture at a time when spring planting was about to begin.

The Star said its sources reported Lin went to Chou En-lai, laid before him his complaints against Mao, and also told him he wanted to be responsible only for the Chinese army and not for the civilian administration of China.

Then, according to the Star, Chou, Lin and "several other

Cong Long For Peace, Captured Red Discloses

PHU OC THANH, South Vietnam (AP) — A North Vietnamese lieutenant captured by Korean troops said today the failure of the lunar new year truce to produce peace negotiations has put "Viet Cong morale at an all-time low."

"Night and day the Viet Cong long for peace," said Lt. Truong Hiep, a platoon leader with the 3rd Company, 85th "Independence" Battalion, a Viet Cong main-force element. "They had high hopes for negotiation. Now they know they cannot win without direct help from Russia or Red China," he said.

The lieutenant was interviewed through an interpreter at the wire-enclosed stockade of the Korean Tiger Division here in the central highlands 290 miles northeast of Saigon. A Korean private captured him this week with a karate blow. The lieutenant was attempting to fire his German Walther pistol at a Korean patrol that surprised him as he was returning to duty from a Viet Cong hospital hidden in the mountains.

A North Vietnamese regular, Truong infiltrated from Hanoi a year ago and was assigned as a special cadre to work with Viet Cong main-force troops in Phu Yen Province, which actually was his home. Like many other idealistic young Communists, he went north during the 1954 armistice that followed the Geneva agreements and rose through the ranks of the North Vietnamese army.

The lieutenant said as a cadre officer he had been told to indoctrinate his troops with the idea that a truce would soon come about with a coalition government of Viet Cong and South Vietnamese representatives ruling the country, following the immediate withdrawal of all American and other foreign troops.

Truong's special job was guarding provincial officials of the Viet Cong shadow government operating in the tactical area being swept by Korean troops. He was badly scalded in January while trying to boil water in an ammunition box and was taken to a Viet Cong dispensary deep in the mountains. The hospital once had consisted of four buildings, but because of air strikes had been reduced to a single hut staffed by one doctor, two medics and a nurse.

"The Viet Cong are more afraid of the B52 raids than anything," said Truong, who had been only a third of a mile from a major strike by the huge bombers. "Only those big bombs can collapse our tunnel structures. Also, they are afraid of the F105 Thunderchiefs, which are less powerful but very, very accurate."

Big Losses Suffered By U.S. Force

Marine Campanies Hit Hard By Reds' Mortar Barrages

SAIGON, (AP) — North Vietnamese troops have inflicted heavy casualties on two U.S. Marine companies and hammered at positions of long-range American guns south of the demilitarized zone with intensive mortar barrages, U.S. spokesmen announced today.

The official report estimated the Communists fired 1,000 mortar shells at Marines during a day-long battle Tuesday about 10 miles south of the buffer territory that separate North and South Vietnam.

Evidently seeking to interrupt the shelling of North Vietnam across the zone, the Communists lobbed 475 81mm mortar shells at the positions of some self-propelled 175mm guns that had been moved to within two miles of the zone.

A spokesman said there was no damage to the big guns, which can fire shells up to 20 miles, and that American casualties were light.

In the Zone C theater adjoining the Cambodian frontier, American planes and artillery killed more than 150 Viet Cong after the Communists badly mauled a company of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, the U.S. military command reported.

The six-hour battle Tuesday was the biggest to date in the week-old Operation Junction City, a 45,000-man U.S. squeeze on the Communist jungle stronghold near the Cambodian border. The company of 178 American infantrymen suffered heavy casualties, meaning it is no longer an effective fighting force until it receives replacements.

North Vietnamese regulars operating just below the demilitarized zone fired off a tremendous mortar attack in an effort to knock out the long-range U.S. artillery guns which last week began shelling across the six-mile zone into North Vietnam.

U.S. headquarters said the North Vietnamese fired 475 mortar rounds against the 175mm guns in two shellings Tuesday night. A U.S. spokesman said "miraculously" there was no damage to the big guns and only light casualties to American troops.

The 175mm guns, the biggest in Vietnam, are positioned two miles south of the demilitarized zone. The U.S. Command announced last Friday that the huge artillery pieces had begun firing at military targets in North Vietnam and in the demilitarized zone.

Also in the northern end of the country, U.S. Marines reported killing at least 26 enemy troops in several sharp fights below the demilitarized zone and along the South China seacoast.

Senate Vote Awaited On W.Va. Bill

House Will Tackle Gross Margin At Amendment Stage

CHARLESTON (AP) — A legislative showdown loomed for the gross margin tax bill today — a vote delayed from Monday was keyed in the Senate while the House was to tackle it at amendment stage.

The governor's office and Senate leaders were reported to be making an all-out effort today to save the gross margin bill from possible defeat.

Gross margin is the heart of a $23 million tax reform package drafted from recommendations by Purdue University economist James A. Papke.

Opposition leaders in the Senate remained confident this morning that they controlled enough votes to kill the measure.

Supporters were openly worried, but hopeful that an earlier test vote showing a 17-17 deadlock could be altered by a vote or two for passage.

Also whipped into shape and to be introduced in the Senate today was an alternate tax plan to take the place of the gross margin measure should it fail.

Charged In Federal Conspiracy

Klan Leader Among 19 Cited In Rights Slayings

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leader has been added to the list of those the federal government contends were involved in the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Sam Bowers Jr., a Laurel coin machine distributor, was one of 19 men charged Tuesday on a federal conspiracy indictment.

Bowers, whom the FBI says is the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — the most violent and most clandestine of the various Klan groups — had not previously been named in the Philadelphia case.

He was indicted last year in the Vernon Dahmer firebombing death at Hattiesburg.

The federal grand jury which returned new indictments in the Philadelphia case also reconsidered the Dahmer case.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox of Jackson said indictments were returned in the Dahmer case when the grand jury session ended at Jackson Monday. A federal source said these would be disclosed today at Hattiesburg.

Of the 18 arrested at Meridian in the Philadelphia case, 16 — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 43, and his chief deputy, Cecil Price, 28 — had been previously indicted on federal charges in connection with the slayings.

All 18 surrendered and each posted a $5,000 bond.

The first indictments, obtained in January 1965, were dismissed last year on grounds of improper composition of the grand jury.

Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, disappeared with James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro, June 21, 1964, shortly after Price released them from jail at Philadelphia.

They had gone to investigate the burning of a Negro church near Philadelphia. Several days later their burned station wagon was found, hidden in dense undergrowth at the edge of a swamp.

The bodies of the three were found two months later beneath a freshly built earthen dam. All three had been shot.

"It was a part of the plan and purpose of the conspiracy," the new indictment charged, for Price to release the three from jail at such time" that he and eight other defendants "could and would intercept . . . (them) . . . and threaten, assault, shoot and kill them."

Clark Picked For Attorney General Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Ramsey Clark as attorney general will give President Johnson a Supreme Court vacancy to fill — the result of a unique family double-play.

After Johnson promoted Clark to the vacancy Tuesday, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, the nominee's father, said he'll retire by midyear to avoid any conflict of interest.

Early Senate approval of the younger Clark's appointment is anticipated. Three senators heartily endorsed the nomination, with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., calling it "one of the finest any president has ever made."

Justice Clark, 67, a 17-year veteran of the high court bench, said he'll review the court's docket "for any possible conflict of interests that arise during the remainder of the term" and then decide when to retire. The court term is scheduled to end in June.

Ramsey Clark, 39, has been acting attorney general since last October when Nicholas Katzenbach resigned to become undersecretary of state.

He'll go before the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday for what is expected to be a brief re-examination of his qualifications. He previously received committee and Senate approval for appointments as assistant attorney general and deputy attorney general.

Tells Of Picking Up Son

'Was No Loot In My Car,' Woman Declares At Trial

Mrs. Louise Melvin, 46, of rear 454 Mulberry St. told a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Tuesday she drove to Wellsville about 1 a. m. Nov. 23 to pick up her son, Joe Murray, 19, who was stranded trying to hitchhike home.

She said she didn't know anything about a burglary that night at a Wellsville television store and none of the loot was placed in her car.

MRS. MELVIN, mother of five, is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

The state contends the loot consisted of radios, television sets, tape recorders, phonographs, stereos and walkie-talkies of a value totaling over $1,300. The items were taken the night of Nov. 22-23 in a burglary at Cataldo's TV store on Main St., across from the police station.

The defendant testified her son was waiting for her near the Dairy Queen at Routes 7 and 45. "He had his hands in his pockets and was all shriveled up with cold."

"I told him I should have let him walk home for getting me up in the middle of the night, but he interrupted, 'Do,'t fuss at me, mom, I'm cold'." She said he had been drinking and fell asleep quickly in the warm car.

Mrs. Melvin said she turned around in the Dairy Queen lot and drove back home by the River Rd. and St. George St. She said she was getting ready to go back to bed when Mrs. Grace Parsons and her son, Walter (Brent) Parsons came to the house. They live at 471 Mulberry St.

MRS. MELVIN said Mrs. Parsons told her she heard about Joe calling for a ride from Wellsville and wanted to know if anything had happened to him. Mrs. Melvin said she told her Joe just got too much to drink and the fellows who took him to Wellsville left him without a ride home.

Brent and Joe were talking in Joe's bedroom during this conversation, Mrs. Melvin said. Mrs. Parsons stayed about 15 minutes, then she and Brent started home, but Brent returned to talk to Joe, the defendant related. She said the boys were

Baldasare Cautions Children About Ice

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare of Wellsville today issued a warning against children playing on the ice in Little Yellow Creek near the floodwall in the upper end of the city.

"This is a very serious situation, since the ice is rather thin and water very deep," he commented. "Should a youngster break through, the chances of rescue would be slight."

The Ohio River backs up into Little Yellow Creek at the spot where the children have been playing and Baldasare pointed out towboats going up and down the river could cause waves which could quickly break up the ice.

Records Tag February As 'Cold Month'

March may not have come in like a lion this morning, what with blue skies and sunshine, but the new month was in keeping with the cold weather as the mercury dipped to zero overnight.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, reported the zero mark.

It's to be cloudy and warmer tonight and Thursday, however, with tonight's low ranging between 18 and 24.

Copeland said February was among the coldest on record, but no record-breaker.

The temperature last month averaged 24.3 degrees, compared with the normal 28.9 on his records.

The mercury went as low as 16 degrees Feb. 8 and hit a high of 58 Feb. 16.

"It was the coldest February since 1964, but not the coldest in the area history — there have been several colder," he reported.

The area had 13 inches of snowfall during the month, well over the normal 8.

There were 11 cloudy days, seven partly cloudy days and 10 clear days, for a 40 per cent sunshine reading. The normal is 35 per cent.

Mao Seen Giving Chou Power To Spur Economy

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star reported today that Mao Tse-tung has given Premier Chou En-lai full executive powers to stop Mao's cultural revolution purge and restore China's economy.

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leader has been added to the list of those the federal government contends were involved in the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Of the 18 arrested at Meridian in the Philadelphia case, 16 — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 43, and his chief deputy, Cecil Price, 28 — had been previously indicted on federal charges in connection with the slayings.

All 18 surrendered and each posted a $5,000 bond.

The first indictments, obtained in January 1965, were dismissed last year on grounds of improper composition of the grand jury.

Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, disappeared with James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro, June 21, 1964, shortly after Price released them from jail at Philadelphia.

They had gone to investigate the burning of a Negro church near Philadelphia. Several days later their burned station wagon was found, hidden in dense undergrowth at the edge of a swamp.

The bodies of the three were found two months later beneath a freshly built earthen dam. All three had been shot.

"It was a part of the plan and purpose of the conspiracy," the new indictment charged, for Price to release the three from jail at such time" that he and eight other defendants "could and would intercept . . . (them) . . . and threaten, assault, shoot and kill them."

Clark Picked For Attorney General Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Ramsey Clark as attorney general will give President Johnson a Supreme Court vacancy to fill — the result of a unique family double-play.

After Johnson promoted Clark to the vacancy Tuesday, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, the nominee's father, said he'll retire by midyear to avoid any conflict of interest.

Early Senate approval of the younger Clark's appointment is anticipated. Three senators heartily endorsed the nomination, with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., calling it "one of the finest any president has ever made."

Justice Clark, 67, a 17-year veteran of the high court bench, said he'll review the court's docket "for any possible conflict of interests that arise during the remainder of the term" and then decide when to retire. The court term is scheduled to end in June.

Ramsey Clark, 39, has been acting attorney general since last October when Nicholas Katzenbach resigned to become undersecretary of state.

He'll go before the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday for what is expected to be a brief re-examination of his qualifications. He previously received committee and Senate approval for appointments as assistant attorney general and deputy attorney general.

Tells Of Picking Up Son

'Was No Loot In My Car,' Woman Declares At Trial

Mrs. Louise Melvin, 46, of rear 454 Mulberry St. told a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Tuesday she drove to Wellsville about 1 a. m. Nov. 23 to pick up her son, Joe Murray, 19, who was stranded trying to hitchhike home.

She said she didn't know anything about a burglary that night at a Wellsville television store and none of the loot was placed in her car.

MRS. MELVIN, mother of five, is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

The state contends the loot consisted of radios, television sets, tape recorders, phonographs, stereos and walkie-talkies of a value totaling over $1,300. The items were taken the night of Nov. 22-23 in a burglary at Cataldo's TV store on Main St., across from the police station.

The defendant testified her son was waiting for her near the Dairy Queen at Routes 7 and 45. "He had his hands in his pockets and was all shriveled up with cold."

"I told him I should have let him walk home for getting me up in the middle of the night, but he interrupted, 'Do,'t fuss at me, mom, I'm cold'." She said he had been drinking and fell asleep quickly in the warm car.

Mrs. Melvin said she turned around in the Dairy Queen lot and drove back home by the River Rd. and St. George St. She said she was getting ready to go back to bed when Mrs. Grace Parsons and her son, Walter (Brent) Parsons came to the house. They live at 471 Mulberry St.

MRS. MELVIN said Mrs. Parsons told her she heard about Joe calling for a ride from Wellsville and wanted to know if anything had happened to him. Mrs. Melvin said she told her Joe just got too much to drink and the fellows who took him to Wellsville left him without a ride home.

Brent and Joe were talking in Joe's bedroom during this conversation, Mrs. Melvin said. Mrs. Parsons stayed about 15 minutes, then she and Brent started home, but Brent returned to talk to Joe, the defendant related. She said the boys were

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare of Wellsville today issued a warning against children playing on the ice in Little Yellow Creek near the floodwall in the upper end of the city.

"This is a very serious situation, since the ice is rather thin and water very deep," he commented. "Should a youngster break through, the chances of rescue would be slight."

The Ohio River backs up into Little Yellow Creek at the spot where the children have been playing and Baldasare pointed out towboats going up and down the river could cause waves which could quickly break up the ice.

Records Tag February As 'Cold Month'

March may not have come in like a lion this morning, what with blue skies and sunshine, but the new month was in keeping with the cold weather as the mercury dipped to zero overnight.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, reported the zero mark.

It's to be cloudy and warmer tonight and Thursday, however, with tonight's low ranging between 18 and 24.

Copeland said February was among the coldest on record, but no record-breaker.

The temperature last month averaged 24.3 degrees, compared with the normal 28.9 on his records.

The mercury went as low as 16 degrees Feb. 8 and hit a high of 58 Feb. 16.

"It was the coldest February since 1964, but not the coldest in the area history — there have been several colder," he reported.

The area had 13 inches of snowfall during the month, well over the normal 8.

There were 11 cloudy days, seven partly cloudy days and 10 clear days, for a 40 per cent sunshine reading. The normal is 35 per cent.

still talking when she went to bed.

Brent and Mrs. Parsons testified earlier for the state. He said Joe called him between 2:30 and 3 a. m. while he (Brent) was watching television at the home of Mrs. Lucille Williams, 473 Mulberry St.

Brent said Joe told him he had broken into a store and wanted someone to come and get him. Brent said he refused, but did go to the Melvin home to get Mrs. Melvin to call a telephone number Joe gave him.

Mrs. Melvin testified she called the number from the Parsons home and Joe answered. "His voice sounded slurred, and I knew he had been drinking," she said. She told the jury she was provoked at being roused and half scolded her son by asking, "Why do you do these things?

Brent had testified he heard Mrs. Melvin say, "Why did you do it?"

BRENT AND his mother testified they went to the Melvin home after Mrs. Melvin returned from Wellsville and that Brent and Joe made several trips from the car to the house, carrying in television sets, radios and other equipment.

Mrs. Melvin said this was not so. She said there was nothing in the car and the only thing Joe had when she picked him up "was his hands in his pockets."

Brent said Joe gave him six of the items — two portable TV sets, two radios, a phonograph and a stereo.

Patrolman Edwin James of Wellsville testified he went to the Parsons home Sunday Nov. 27 and recovered the first five items. The stereo was found under the stairway of a vacant house on W. 9th St., the officer said.

He identified the six pieces of merchandise as being among the 26 pieces listed missing by Albert Cataldo, the TV store owner. The other items have not been recovered, James said.

Mrs. Williams testified that Brent was at her house watching TV when a telephone call came for him near the end of the last show on Channel 2. Before testifying, she announced she would like to make a statement — "that the people in this case had been good friends before this happened and she didn't want to do anything to hurt any of them, but she would have to tell the truth."

Defense witnesses called by Charles Lang, defense counsel, were Walter Howell, who operates Howell TV Sales & Service, 1700 Pennsylvania Ave., the Rev. Vanable Samuels of the Church of the Living God in Midland, and Anderson Abbott of 500 1st Ave., East Liverpool.

HOWELL'S testimony refuted that of state's witnesses who said one of the state's exhibits — an Emerson portable TV — was on top of the television cabinet in Mrs. Melvin's living room.

Howell testified he went to the Melvin home the Friday or Saturday after Thanksgiving on a call to fix Mrs. Melvin's set. He said he removed the chassis to take back to his shop. He said he recalled a portable set on top of the cabinet.

"What make was it, if you know?" Lang asked.

"I don't know," the witness answered.

"Was it an Emerson?"

"No, I'm positive of that," Howell answered. "I handle Emersons and know one when I see it."

Rev. Samuels and Abbott testified that Mrs. Melvin has a good reputation.

The trial did not resume until 1 p. m. today because Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis had a prior engagement to speak at the YWCA's weekly program this morning in Salem.

Joe Murray is expected to testify today. Both he and Parsons have pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property and have requests for probation before the court.

The grand jury also indicted Murray in the Cataldo TV burglary, but the state agreed to drop that charge when the defendant offered to plead guilty to receiving and concealing.

is represented by one state senator and one state representative. This provision of one man, one vote, one district is the truest representation Ohio ever had," he said. He referred to the present apportionment plan which the ballot proposal would make permanent.

Rhodes traced what he called the accomplishments of his administration and made several recommendations for new legislation.

He said in the field of welfare, a program is being prepared to provide local governments with matching funds "so that 100 per cent of state standards (may be met) for the first time in Ohio history."

The governor also called for laws to crack down "on deserting fathers" whose families wind up on welfare rolls and said county welfare departments should be given authority to file non-support charges.

He noted that in mental health, plans are completed for a building program for 77 new buildings in 24 counties in the next four years.

"In the field of corrections, Ohio soon will have one of the most modern systems in the nation with new and modern prisons at Grafton, Portsmouth, and Chillicothe," he said. The governor said a 76 per cent increase is planned in spending by the Ohio Youth Commission for modernization of 10 existing institutions and construction of seven new institutions and eight residential centers.

On other subjects, the governor asked the legislature "to make permanent" and provide funds for his recently - created Department of Urban Affairs and reaffirmed Ohio's offer to loan the federal government funds for immediate construction of a proposed Appalachian highway through southeastern Ohio.

"This highway from Greater Cincinnati to Belpre would do more to open southern and southeastern Ohio to industrial and commercial development than any other single factor," he said.

Rhodes said he also supports increases in unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation to offset cost of living advances. The governor also urged passage of an omnibus pay raise bill for 44,000 employes. He said the administration's goal in vocational education is to build 50 more training centers in areas of high unemployment. "Vocational education is the gateway to a job," he said.

An Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down by North Vietnamese ground fire. The pilot, Capt. James S. Walbridge of Williamsport, Pa., bailed out and was rescued by a Jolly Green Giant helicopter from the jungles north of the Mu Gia Pass on the North Vietnamese border with Laos.

Walbridge was plucked from a tree in which he landed and had been hanging, suspended by his parachute harness, for an hour and a half.

The plane was the 476th reported lost over the north in combat and the first loss reported in a week.

Navy A6 all-weather Intruder bombers struck before dawn today at the Chi Ne military installation, a major barracks and training area 35 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. Pilots reported all bombs in the target area but darkness and poor weather prevented assessment of the damage.

During the raids Tuesday, Navy pilots said they damaged seven cargo barges 31 miles southeast of Hanoi and eight miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.

Operation Juncton City suddenly surged into bloody action about noon Tuesday when a Viet Cong battalion of about 500 men ambushed a U.S. 1st Infantry Division company 18 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City.

Reports from the battle area said the Viet Cong raked the company with machine-gun and small-arms fire.

The Americans countered with air strikes and artillery barrages and called up ground reinforcements. A U.S. spokesman reported more than 150 enemy bodies were found and said the count was expected to rise.

In another sector of the Junction City Operation, a company of U.S. troops was tear gassed by retreating Viet Cong after a short firefight. The American unit donned gasmasks and a spokesman said they suffered no casualties as the Viet Cong pulled out.

U.S. troops reported killing 30 more Viet Cong in other skirmishes in the operation, swelling the total enemy dead to date to at least 271.

Firemen Lauded For Preventing Spread Of Blaze

LISBON — The Industrial Mining and Engineering Co., on Route 45 five miles north of Lisbon, credits the Leetonia and Winona volunteer fire departments with preventing a disastrous fire Tuesday night at its hopper and tipple.

Robert Hamilton, general manager, said a short circuit is the suspected cause of a blaze in the timber - supported metal hopper into which trucks dump coal. The insurance adjuster estimated damage at about $500, Hamilton said.

Firemen contained the flames so they did not spread to the timber tipple. The hopper and tipple are joined by an elevator system to lift the coal to the tipple.

The fire broke out about 7:10. Robert Bartholow turned in the alarm.

The Lisbon and East Palestine fire departments sent tankers.

Operation Juncton City suddenly surged into bloody action about noon Tuesday when a Viet Cong battalion of about 500 men ambushed a U.S. 1st Infantry Division company 18 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City.

Reports from the battle area said the Viet Cong raked the company with machine-gun and small-arms fire.

The Americans countered with air strikes and artillery barrages and called up ground reinforcements. A U.S. spokesman reported more than 150 enemy bodies were found and said the count was expected to rise.

In another sector of the Junction City Operation, a company of U.S. troops was tear gassed by retreating Viet Cong after a short firefight. The American unit donned gasmasks and a spokesman said they suffered no casualties as the Viet Cong pulled out.

U.S. troops reported killing 30 more Viet Cong in other skirmishes in the operation, swelling the total enemy dead to date to at least 271.

Firemen Lauded For Preventing Spread Of Blaze

LISBON — The Industrial Mining and Engineering Co., on Route 45 five miles north of Lisbon, credits the Leetonia and Winona volunteer fire departments with preventing a disastrous fire Tuesday night at its hopper and tipple.

Robert Hamilton, general manager, said a short circuit is the suspected cause of a blaze in the timber - supported metal hopper into which trucks dump coal. The insurance adjuster estimated damage at about $500, Hamilton said.

Firemen contained the flames so they did not spread to the timber tipple. The hopper and tipple are joined by an elevator system to lift the coal to the tipple.

The fire broke out about 7:10. Robert Bartholow turned in the alarm.

Home Rule By The Horns

It looks as if the head-against-the-brick-wall history of home rule for the District of Columbia may be changed.

Many times the Senate has approved home rule measures only to have them derailed by Southern conservative House members. For 16 years, they have managed to keep proposals from reaching a floor vote.

Their main objection lies in the fact more than 60 per cent of the District of Columbia's population is Negro.

President Johnson is leading the new attack. He has told Congress he is going to abolish the appointed District of Columbia city government as the first step toward home rule.

He does not have the power to award the franchise to D.C. citizens; but he can build the framework for an elected mayor and council form of government.

His actions are permitted under the Reorganization Act of 1945 and, unless vetoed by Congress, the plan would become law within 60 days.

Self-government proposals in the past have been doomed. It is with an eye to this record that President Johnson has decided to bypass congressional opposition.

He is leaving the door open if Congress wants to enact its own home-rule legislation through regular channels. He did this by including his annual plea for Congress to act in behalf of refranchisement of the city.

If a home-rule policy is ever to see the light of day, its best chance will be through use of the President's executive power.

For Fun Only

The innocent looking snowball can be a trouble-maker when its force is channeled in the wrong direction.

Like when it is hurled at a passing automobile. The windshield of a small car was shattered here this week when struck by a "ball." Fortunately, in this case there was no damage other than to the glass.

But such a thoughtless act could be the cause of a serious accident. A distracted driver could find himself in trouble in a hurry, especially when the roads are slippery.

Precedent By James A. Farley

James A. Farley will be 79 his next birthday. It is good to know he is still able and willing to stir up the political animals he once ringmastered as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

He teed off on Sens. Kennedy and Fulbright of the Democratic party in a speech at Hartford last Saturday night.

He accused Sen. Kennedy of formulating his own foreign policy, in an attempt to embarrass President Lyndon B. Johnson.

He accused Sen. Fulbright of arrogance in criticizing the way his commander-in-chief is running the undeclared war in Vietnam.

His comments will cause Americans who remember Mr. Farley when he was the most powerful political figure in the United States to think of his own experiences in disagreeing with the head of his party.

He had put Franklin D. Roosevelt into the White House in 1932, to the consternation of a great many Democrats who did not think he should have been nominated. Mr. Farley then set about to assure an even greater Roosevelt landslide in 1936. He was successful.

Then, with the two-party system virtually destroyed by the Farley political bulldozer, the two men fell out. Mr. Farley opposed his chief openly on a third-term nomination in 1940. He opposed him again for a fourth term in 1944. He thought the four-term grab for power was intolerable.

The break was so complete that Mr. Farley, who had been No. 1 in partisan politics, dropped out of politics and made a new career in the business world.

Mr. Farley had the courage of his convictions.

Please, sir, let Sen. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, say what he has to say. Let Bobby say it, too. Someone in the Democratic party had better say something lest the country get the idea all Democrats think undeclared, open-end, go-on-forever war in Southeast Asia is a smashing good idea and will be so voted by the electorate in 1968.

Cobwebs Of School Financing

So what's new? Hundreds of others have advocated financial reform.

The difference is that Dr. James Bryant Conant is suggesting a way to get the money to put the reform in motion. He is calling on Congress to return a portion of federal income tax receipts to the states for school support.

Dr. Conant, 73-year-old president emeritus of Harvard University, kicked off a nationwide high school reform movement 10 years ago with his report on high school curriculum.

His latest study has shown insufficient financial support of public education which deprives many American youths an opportunity for adequate education.

He is urging fiscal responsibility for schools be transferred from local communities to the states.

To assure that states can meet the financial responsibility, he says a definite portion of federal income tax money should be channeled back to them.

The money is to be spent by the states as they see fit, to support and strengthen public education programs.

Dr. Conant's report has just been published, and it is too early to appraise congressional reaction. If Congress considers the suggestion, it is likely to discard it. Congressmen do not usually approve domestic expenditures without strings.

However, there is mounting agitation for federal-state tax sharing. The education money angle could be incorporated in the measure.

The pressure brought to bear on congressmen from the friends of education for the tax-sharing measure would give it a boost toward approval.

Justice Clark

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Supreme Court will lose its clearest and best - organized writer when Justice Tom C. Clark retires, some time before the end of June.

Yet, he has had small recognition for the clarity of the opinions he wrote, perhaps because he was less colorful or controversial than some of the other eight justices.

Now 67 and on the bench since 1949, Clark announced Tuesday his decision to step down after President Johnson named his son, Ramsey Clark, 39, attorney general. The younger Clark had been acting attorney general.

Justice Clark's reason for leaving: to avoid any conflict of interest since the Justice Department, under his son, will be handling Supreme Court cases.

The present court, for courage and the tremendous impact of its decisions in the past 12 years, is probably the greatest in American history. But most of the justices still write opinions in the fashion of 75 or 100 years ago.

IN SHORT, those opinions lack precision, self-discipline, good organization and, therefore, the kind of easy clarity the court could but doesn't achieve. As a result, most of the opinions are a complex scramble.

Clark's opinions, when he was writing for the majority or dissenting, got to the point in a hurry, stating the case, background, opinion and the reason for it.

The court has been told privately and publicly that it could and should do better writing, but it won't change. Thus, from a literary view, it justly could be called reactionary.

Clark was the court's real middleman. He could never be flatly identified as liberal or conservative. He moved from one side to the other, depending on the case, although it seems fair to say he was frequently very conservative.

He was part of the court which in 1964 outlawed public school segregation. But in 1957, in two very important cases involving communism, he was the lone dissenter when the court voted twice 6 to 1.

In one, the court overthrew the contempt conviction of a man who fully answered questions by the House Committee on Un-American activities about himself but refused to answer about Communists he might have known.

The court ruled Congress has no right to try to expose for exposure's sake, thus narrowing the scope of committee investigations.

IN THE OTHER the court made a sharp distinction between trying to overthrow the government by force and simply talking about trying to do so.

Yet, in 1963 Clark wrote the majority opinion banning the compulsory reading of prayers in public schools.

But in 1964 he was one of the three justices against the majority opinion requiring the reapportionment of a state legislature so that citizens of a state got more equal representation.

He wrote the majority opinion in 1965, saving the Civil Rights Act of 1964 wiped out pending state prosecution of sit - in demonstrators. And that same year he wrote the 5-4 decision which, in effect, barred televised trials.

In 1966 he dissented from the decision making it far tougher than ever for police in questioning suspects but he was with the majority in upholding important parts of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

In 1966 he was part of the majority which banned poll taxes as a prerequisite in state voting.

Pension Fund Looting Curb Eyed

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — There's no business like the pension and welfare business. No gold rush ever panned out so much for so many in so little time.

Victor Riesel

At the present moment there's well over $90 billion in huge pools around the land. With some $22 billion flowing into the funds each year, there's bound to be looting.

So, within a year the federals will be fluoroscoping these gargantuan stockpiles. There will be new laws because there are none now to prevent the stealing of millions from the reserves which in 10 years will top $200 billion.

No one, in fact, now knows how much is being lifted from these billions. Only four states have any sort of statutes under which someone who sets himself up as a labor leader, and strong arms some frightened employers and rank and filers into signing up, can be traced or even punished for lifting millions of dollars.

Even those of us who muckrake amongst the lost millions have not been able to trace such wholesale embezzlement. All this has been disturbing labor's high command, which has been conferring off and on for over a month.

We do know that the Teamsters midwest pension fund had $20 million worth of loans rigged according to the federal courts.

We do know that in the beginning of the pension era some $900,000 was lifted from at least one other union pool of cash.

THERE HAVE BEEN fake welfare funds which took in hundreds of thousands of dollars — and gave the proletariat nothing but the addresses of eye doctors and physicians and dentists.

In San Juan, the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA, AFL-CIO) had to "take drastic steps" through a trusteeship to protect the assets of the Puerto Rican Steamship Welfare Fund (ILA Local 1575) created to keep old waterfront workers in food and clothes in their old age. At least $500,000 is involved.

To use an old wobbly phrase, these parasites bleeding the labor movement are the ones who were caught. Under the current laws, they were caught because they were so outrageously flagrant that a simple penal code got them.

But what of the "legal looters". There are hundreds of locals, some controlled by the Mafia, which really are do-it-yourself unions. There's one fellow in the East who operates a network of at least 20 outfits — each replete with pension and welfare funds.

He hires lawyers, accountants, doctors, consultants, actuaries and strong arm men. They are well paid. But he now is being probed by the U.S. Attorney's office.

HOWEVER, the federal authorities can do little but dig methodically in the hope of discovering some "way out" federal violation which would enable them to swoop down with indictments.

This is difficult because the operators don't actually steal. They borrow, say $29,000. They invest it in stock of companies which are their own dummies.

But the problem is how to give the federal government the power to probe and indict without affecting or reflecting on the great welfare and pension funds which have not been adulterated. There is, for example, the huge United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund which leonine John L. Lewis (who has just turned 87) began away back when, as a kid reporter, I heard him demand a union royalty of a nickel a ton to keep the aging miners in comfort and their survivors "from the tears and burdens of poverty."

That fund has paid out $2 billion since 1946. Not a dime has been corrupted.

But the hunt is on for the scavengers of the other pools of cash. President Johnson now wants a "Welfare and Pension Plan Protection Act of 1967."

Administrators of such funds, big and small, will have to follow strict fiduciary practices. The act will call for yearly independent audits of all such plans. This will have to be done by certified public accountants.

There will be fuller and far more complete disclosure of the funds, their income and administrative expenses. Limits will be placed on amounts of the funds which may be invested in stock of the employer company.

The powers of the Secretary of Labor — and eventually the head of the new Dept. of Economic Resources — will be so expanded that he will be able to probe books of funds when he suspects chicanery.

But best of all, the act will give the rank and file legal machinery to recover monies lost by the plan when administrators are crooked or stupid in their handling of other people's money.

Mergers

By David Lawrence

They Help Free Enterprise

Why have the number of business mergers in America reached unprecedented heights in the last two years?

The Federal Trade Commission gives the figures on continuation of the trend but does not attempt to explain reasons for consolidation of so many companies.

There is more than meets the eye in what has been happening. The American free-enterprise system has been subject to some powerful influences, and among these is the introduction of new factors in domestic as well as in international competition.

Mergers are due primarily to a desire to increase profits in companies which are already successful, but there are often situations in which the weaker companies in a particular industry find it almost essential, in order to survive, that they combine their resources with the larger competitors.

The trend toward high merger activity, which was evident at the close of World War II, slackened during the postwar recession, then resumed the upward movement.

But even back in the 1920's the concept of putting together competing companies began to be widely embraced. At that time also what was known as "diversification" was given new emphasis as companies which had concentrated in one industry saw the necessity of investing in an entirely different line in order to provide a safety valve against severe competition that might arise within the original field of business.

IT WAS NOT uncommon, therefore, to see mergers extended to businesses that were wholly unrelated to one another.

Unfortunately, when the big depression started in 1929, many of the diversified companies felt financial strains, although these were generally less painful than those of the smaller companies which had not been able to acquire partners with big resources.

The movement toward consolidations is not confined to any single part of the economic sector. In 1966, however, nearly 70 per cent of the full acquisitions were in the manufacturing line, while merger activity fell off among companies which provide services rather than goods.

The possibility of antitrust action has doubtless prevented many mergers that otherwise would have contributed to the stability of an industry and lessened the ill effects of dissolutions which are forced when competition becomes too severe for the small company to withstand.

While the American legal system is designed to prevent private monopoly, there have been instances in which small companies have been driven out of business by competition itself. Also, in many cases, if it were not for the merging of middle-sized companies in a particular industry, top corporations would wind up with a virtual monopoly.

THE DEPARTMENT of Justice cannot justify any blanket opposition to mergers as such and must examine each case to determine whether it is likely to lead to harmful or to constructive results.

Not long ago, the U.S. Supreme Court by a 6-3 decision blocked the merger of two grocery chains in Los Angeles, though their combined sales were less than 8 per cent of the retail market in their area.

The case aroused nationwide interest, and it is still not clear whether smaller companies are to be prevented in the future from pooling their resources in order to meet the exigencies of competition with major companies.

The rise in the number of mergers is for the most part a sign of healthy conditions in business, though in some instances the combinations are brought about to avert threatened disaster.

When the subject is fully analyzed, on the other hand, it will be found that many mergers, especially between the smaller units in an industry, are due largely to inability to gather together the necessary working capital to expand.

Hence, the merger idea has proved to be an effective way to preserve the free-enterpise system.

Pension Fund Looting Curb Eyed

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — There's no business like the pension and welfare business. No gold rush ever panned out so much for so many in so little time.

Victor Riesel

At the present moment there's well over $90 billion in huge pools around the land. With some $22 billion flowing into the funds each year, there's bound to be looting.

So, within a year the federals will be fluoroscoping these gargantuan stockpiles. There will be new laws because there are none now to prevent the stealing of millions from the reserves which in 10 years will top $200 billion.

No one, in fact, now knows how much is being lifted from these billions. Only four states have any sort of statutes under which someone who sets himself up as a labor leader, and strong arms some frightened employers and rank and filers into signing up, can be traced or even punished for lifting millions of dollars.

Even those of us who muckrake amongst the lost millions have not been able to trace such wholesale embezzlement. All this has been disturbing labor's high command, which has been conferring off and on for over a month.

We do know that the Teamsters midwest pension fund had $20 million worth of loans rigged according to the federal courts.

We do know that in the beginning of the pension era some $900,000 was lifted from at least one other union pool of cash.

THERE HAVE BEEN fake welfare funds which took in hundreds of thousands of dollars — and gave the proletariat nothing but the addresses of eye doctors and physicians and dentists.

In San Juan, the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA, AFL-CIO) had to "take drastic steps" through a trusteeship to protect the assets of the Puerto Rican Steamship Welfare Fund (ILA Local 1575) created to keep old waterfront workers in food and clothes in their old age. At least $500,000 is involved.

To use an old wobbly phrase, these parasites bleeding the labor movement are the ones who were caught. Under the current laws, they were caught because they were so outrageously flagrant that a simple penal code got them.

But what of the "legal looters". There are hundreds of locals, some controlled by the Mafia, which really are do-it-yourself unions. There's one fellow in the East who operates a network of at least 20 outfits — each replete with pension and welfare funds

He hires lawyers, accountants, doctors, consultants, actuaries and strong arm men. They are well paid. But he now is being probed by the U.S. Attorney's office.

HOWEVER, the federal authorities can do little but dig methodically in the hope of discovering some "way out" federal violation which would enable them to swoop down with indictments.

This is difficult because the operators don't actually steal. They borrow, say $29,000. They invest it in stock of companies which are their own dummies.

But the problem is how to give the federal government the power to probe and indict without affecting or reflecting on the great welfare and pension funds which have not been adulterated. There is, for example, the huge United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund which leonine John L. Lewis (who has just turned 87) began away back when, as a kid reporter, I heard him demand a union royalty of a nickel a ton to keep the aging miners in comfort and their survivors "from the tears and burdens of poverty."

That fund has paid out $2 billion since 1946. Not a dime has been corrupted.

But the hunt is on for the scavengers of the other pools of cash. President Johnson now wants a "Welfare and Pension Plan Protection Act of 1967."

Administrators of such funds, big and small, will have to follow strict fiduciary practices. The act will call for yearly independent audits of all such plans. This will have to be done by certified public accountants.

There will be fuller and far more complete disclosure of the funds, their income and administrative expenses. Limits will be placed on amounts of the funds which may be invested in stock of the employer company.

The powers of the Secretary of Labor — and eventually the head of the new Dept. of Economic Resources — will be so expanded that he will be able to probe books of funds when he suspects chicanery.

But best of all, the act will give the rank and file legal machinery to recover monies lost by the plan when administrators are crooked or stupid in their handling of other people's money.

Mergers

By David Lawrence

They Help Free Enterprise

Why have the number of business mergers in America reached unprecedented heights in the last two years?

The Federal Trade Commission gives the figures on continuation of the trend but does not attempt to explain reasons for consolidation of so many companies.

There is more than meets the eye in what has been happening. The American free-enterprise system has been subject to some powerful influences, and among these is the introduction of new factors in domestic as well as in international competition.

Mergers are due primarily to a desire to increase profits in companies which are already successful, but there are often situations in which the weaker companies in a particular industry find it almost essential, in order to survive, that they combine their resources with the larger competitors.

The trend toward high merger activity, which was evident at the close of World War II, slackened during the postwar recession, then resumed the upward movement.

But even back in the 1920's the concept of putting together competing companies began to be widely embraced. At that time also what was known as "diversification" was given new emphasis as companies which had concentrated in one industry saw the necessity of investing in an entirely different line in order to provide a safety valve against severe competition that might arise within the original field of business.

IT WAS NOT uncommon, therefore, to see mergers extended to businesses that were wholly unrelated to one another.

Unfortunately, when the big depression started in 1929, many of the diversified companies felt financial strains, although these were generally less painful than those of the smaller companies which had not been able to acquire partners with big resources.

The movement toward consolidations is not confined to any single part of the economic sector. In 1966, however, nearly 70 per cent of the full acquisitions were in the manufacturing line, while merger activity fell off among companies which provide services rather than goods.

The possibility of antitrust action has doubtless prevented many mergers that otherwise would have contributed to the stability of an industry and lessened the ill effects of dissolutions which are forced when competition becomes too severe for the small company to withstand.

While the American legal system is designed to prevent private monopoly, there have been instances in which small companies have been driven out of business by competition itself. Also, in many cases, if it were not for the merging of middle-sized companies in a particular industry, top corporations would wind up with a virtual monopoly.

THE DEPARTMENT of Justice cannot justify any blanket opposition to mergers as such and must examine each case to determine whether it is likely to lead to harmful or to constructive results.

Not long ago, the U.S. Supreme Court by a 6-3 decision blocked the merger of two grocery chains in Los Angeles, though their combined sales were less than 3 per cent of the retail market in their area.

The case aroused nationwide interest, and it is still not clear whether smaller companies are to be prevented in the future from pooling their resources in order to meet the exigencies of competition with major companies.

The rise in the number of mergers is for the most part a sign of healthy conditions in business, though in some instances the combinations are brought about to avert threatened disaster.

When the subject is fully analyzed, on the other hand, it will be found that many mergers, especially between the smaller units in an industry, are due largely to inability to gather together the necessary working capital to expand.

Hence, the merger idea has proved to be an effective way to preserve the free-enterpise system.

Farmers Get Reminder On '67 Deadline

Farm operators in Pennsylvania were reminded today that Friday is the last day to sign programs for wheat and feed grains.

James W. White, chairman of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Commmittee, explains that there will be no extension of the deadline, as in prior years.

The chairman explained that farmers should be particularly interested in participating in the program, since it does not require any acreage diversion to receive certificate payments.

The only program requirements are that the farm operator harvest wheat within his farm allotment and maintain the normal conserving acreage for the farm. White said, "Farmers were granted an increase in their farm wheat allotment before planting time last year, which should give the average Pennsylvania farmer about all the wheat acreage needed for wheat to use on the farm and sold commercially, and as long as he stays within that allotment can receive certificate payments."

Farmers will be able to qualify for price-support payments on their 1967 corn and grain sorghum crops by signing up to take part in the 1967 program and then diverting 20 per cent of the farm's feed grain base and meeting other general program provisions. Growers on farms with a feed grain base of 25 acres or less, may divert more than the minimum 20 per cent and earn diversion payments for all diversion.

In cases, where a farmer signs up in both the wheat and feed grain program, he also has the privilege of substituting feed grain acreage for unplanted wheat allotment acreage.

However, White reminds farmers that participation in these programs is not automatic. Filing an application which shows the operator's program intention is the first necessary step in qualifying for program benefits.

The program sign-ups will be conducted at the Beaver County ASCS office.

Attached to the 7th Air Force, Carpenter worked in the finance and accounting departments at the Ton Son Nhut Base.

His arrival had not been expected until late April or May, his mother explained. The sergeant visited with relatives in Las Vegas before coming here.

Free X-Rays Set Tuesday For Midland

Free chest X-rays will be offered in Midland when a mobile unit visits the community Tuesday.

The Beaver County Tuberculosis Association said the unit will be stationed at the USW-CIO Union Hall, 617 Midland Ave., from 12:30 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m.

The visit is sponsored by the county TB unit, the Pennsylvania Department of Health and Local 1212 of the USW-CIO. The unit will visit elsewhere in the county during the week.

Dr. Ruth Wilson, president of the county TB group, urges all adults to take the X-rays as a sound health practice and to determine if they are unwittingly spreading germs to children.

She pointed out that in the last 10 years, more than 6,600 children in the county have been infected with TB.

This has been substantiated by the tuberculin testing program conducted by the association in cooperation with the county schoolnurses.

It was learned after further study, many of the children came from families where relatives or close friends had TB of which they were unaware.

Dr. Wilson said it is necessary for all adults to have chest X-rays to halt the chain of infection.

Three To Take Part In Wooster Meeting

LISBON — Three Columbiana County men will attend a Department of Agriculture training meeting for county defense boards Thursday at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster.

They are Clifford Shaw, office manager for the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; Herman Reuter, farm planner for the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District, and Joe D. Pittman, county extension agent for agriculture.

Shaw said the training session is one of six scheduled throughout Ohio.

Only four decades were required in making Labor Day an established American tradition. Peter J. McGuire, Irish-American labor leader, conceived the holiday tribute to the working man and organized the first Labor Day parade in New York City in 1882. All states had made it a legal holiday by 1923.

Midland Fails To Overcome Foe's Height, In 59-47 Loss

Fox Chapel's 6-8 Twins Hit For 43

BY BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The Midland Leopards could not scale the superior height of Fox Chapel and were ushered to the sidelines of the Class A WPIAL tournament on a 59-47 decision Tuesday night at the Pittsburgh Civic Arena.

A crowd of 10,630 was on hand for the doubleheader, which saw Midland leave the tourney scene in the opener and mighty Ambridge roll on by scoring a 61-41 win over Westinghouse Memorial. Fox Chapel and Ambridge will clash in the WPIAL semi-finals Friday.

Midland was as cold as the ice directly under the Arena floor in the first half, making only five of 29 shots.

The cold shooting, plus the 6-8 Nelson twins, enabled Fox Chapel to grab a 31-12 lead at halftime. The Foxes continued to lead 46-33 after the third quarter and Midland never got in the running.

THE TOWERING twins were the difference as they combined for 43 points and together pulled down 35 rebounds.

The contest brought to an end an outstanding coaching career at Midland for Hank Kuzma, who had announced his resignation as basketball coach earlier in the season.

Following the game, Kuzma pointed directly to his team's cold first half. "Fox Chapel came up with a good ball game, but we played poorly in the first half."

"Our game plan called for moving the ball more inside to make the two big boys work on defense, but we had too much outside shooting in the first half."

"We also had breakdowns on defense and did not have enough full court pressure. You can't play poor basketball for 16 minutes and expect to win," Kuzma said.

It was a case of the Nelsons almost outscoring the Leopards. Barry Nelson poured in 25 points and brought down 20 rebounds, while Garry was good for 18 points and 15 rebounds. Barry made 12 of 21 shots and Garry 7 of 12.

FOX CHAPEL started a team with the smallest man 6-1. Midland didn't have a starter over the six-foot mark.

The Leopards found it difficult to shoot over their tall opponents, who showed a 45-33 edge in rebounds.

In addition to their poor shooting from the floor, which figured out to 17 per cent the first half, Midland was only two for eight from the foul line in the first two periods.

The Leopards wound up shooting 29 per cent, while Fox Chapel hit 42 per cent.

Midland's usually reliable outside shot Jan Samuels was limited to four points. Substitute Larry Walker paced the Leopards with 12 points while Mahurt scored 10.

After trailing by 19 points, 31-12 at halftime, Midland was faced with an almost impossible task in the second half.

THE LEOPARDS did make one bid to catch up midway through the third quarter. With the Foxes on top 34-15, Midland spurted for six straight points on goals by Mahurt, Samuels and Dave Vanlier, bringing the score to 36-21, but Fox Chapel continued to lead by 13 points, 46-13, at the conclusion of three periods.

Jeff Lake, who finished with nine points, did an outstanding job on the backboards considering the opponents' height advantage by pulling down 15 rebounds.

The defeat left Midland with an overall 22-2 reocrd. The last time the Leopards appeared in the WPIAL tournament they went all the way to capture the 1965 state title.

Duke Moves Back Into Contention On Floor Front

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't count Duke out of the NCAA postseason tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., are on the way back after being virtually counted out in the wake of their two December trouncings by the top-ranked UCLA Bruins and their supersophomore, Lew Alcindor.

Led by Bob Verga's 39 points, Coach Vic Bubas' boys crushed Wake Forest 113-71 Tuesday night for their fourth in a row and 11th victory in their last 12 starts.

Ahead is a Saturday afternoon game with nationally third-ranked North Carolina and then next week's Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament for an NCAA berth.

Verga scored 15 field goals on 20 shots and converted nine of 10 free throws as the Blue Devils upped their season record to 16-6. It was the highest point total ever for a visiting player on the Wake Forest court.

The Blue Devils reached the semifinals of the 1966 national tournament before losing to Kentucky at College Park, Md. They finished in third place by beating Utah.

Elvin Hayes of Houston and Jim Walker of Providence, named to the first team All-America by The Associated Press before game time, shared the scoring headlines with Verga.

Hayes scored 41 points for the seventh-ranked Houston team to lead the Cougars in a 106-64 home court rout of New Orleans Loyola.

Walker tallied 38 points to pace Providence to a 68-67 squeaker over the visiting DePaul Blue Demons. Two free throws by Walker in the last 33 seconds provided the winning margin.

The 10th-ranked Boston College Eagles, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, similarly pulled out an 80-76 home court victory over Canisius on successful free throws in the closing seconds.

Walt Tiberi, with 23 points, and Ron Kozlieki with 20 combined for 43 points to lead Northwestern to a 91-82 victory over Wisconsin at Evanston and keep the Wildcats one game back of first-place Indiana in the torrid Big Ten scramble.

Nebraska also kept its Big Eight hopes alive with an 80-73 road victory over Missouri behind Stuart Lantz's 25 points. Ron Coleman got 30 for the losers.

Wilt Breaks Record With 35 Straight

By The Associated Press

Big Wilt made the first four shots he took Tuesday night in Philadelphia's 127-107 victory over Cincinnati at Syracuse, N.Y., giving him a National Basketball Association record of 35 straight field goals.

The record before that was 19 straight, held by Chamberlain.

Besides hitting on 11 of 14 field goal attempts and scoring 28 points, Chamberlain also picked up nine assists and grabbed 36 rebounds against the Royals. Cincinnati was led by Oscar Robertson with 24 points.

The other two games on the schedule were played as a doubleheader in New York.

A field goal by Jerry West and a fumbled pass by Detroit's Dave DeBusschere gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 119-117 victory over the Pistons in the first game, and Willis Reeds field goal nailed down a 127-123 victory for New York over San Francisco in the second.

West, who scored 34 points, broke a 117-117 tie with 37 seconds remaining by hitting a jump shot. Then with six seconds to go, DeBusschere, Detroit's player-coach, took an inbounds pass and fumbled the ball right back out of bounds.

Baylor added 24 points for Los Angeles. Dave Bing and Eddie Miles scored 22 each and DeBusschere 21 for the Pistons.

Reed's basket with 27 seconds remaining put New York ahead 125-121 and ruined a 17-point, fourth quarter performance by San Francisco's Rick Barry.

NBA Players Threaten Boycott Over Pension

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A threat of a players' boycott of the upcoming National Basketball Association playoffs loomed today in an atmosphere of confusion.

A retroactive pension plan is at the heart of the controversy. The players say they have discussed this matter with the league; the league says no.

The player representatives of the league's 10 teams announced at a meeting here Tuesday that they would stage a sit-down strike if their demands aren't met by the time the playoffs begin in three weeks.

"The major part of our differences with the owners is that the pension program they offer is far short," said Lawrence Fleischer, the players' attorney. "We received what seems to be their final offer last Friday, and it was rejected unanimously here by the player representatives."

Kennedy said he first knew of the players association's announcement when he received a telegram at 3:35 p.m., stating:

"Player association at a meeting today, voted unanimously to turn down proposals of Board of Governors in reply to our request. (signed) Oscar Robertson."

He also said that he had held a series of meetings last week with Fleisher and that a retroactive pension plan was not discussed. In fact, he said, the players had never made a request for such a plan known to the league.

Rich Allen Holding Out For 100G's

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When a guy grows up in Wampum, Pa., it's only natural that he develop a more than passing interest in money.

And when he hits .317, belts 40 home runs and knocks in 110 runs, the interest becomes intense.

So Rich Allen is prepared to spend this summer selling automobiles instead of belting baseballs unless the Philadelphia Phillies fill his pockets with cash.

Specifically, Allen is asking for $100,000, which is considerably more wampum than he got last year. He figures his figures make him worth the investment. But John Quinn, Philadelphia's general manager, who holds the purse strings, hasn't been swayed yet.

"Quinn saw me all last summer," argues Allen, who is keeping busy selling cars. "He knows what I did, what I didn't do. He talks about my salary going up a little each year.

"I want what I'm worth now, not when I'm an old man. He's got my figure. Maybe he thinks I'll come down. I won't."

Allen said he started thinking about this year's contract and the $100,000 figure when he was hurt last summer. He missed 24 games with a lame shoulder.

"That's all a player has got — his body," reasons Rich. "If I'd be seriously hurt so I couldn't play, what would I have? Nothing."

So Allen, who made $42,000 last year, decided to ask for six figures this season. He likes the security that kind of money provides.

If Quinn comes up with the $100,000, he can have Allen in camp. But it'll take more than that to get Juan Marichal into a San Francisco Giants' uniform.

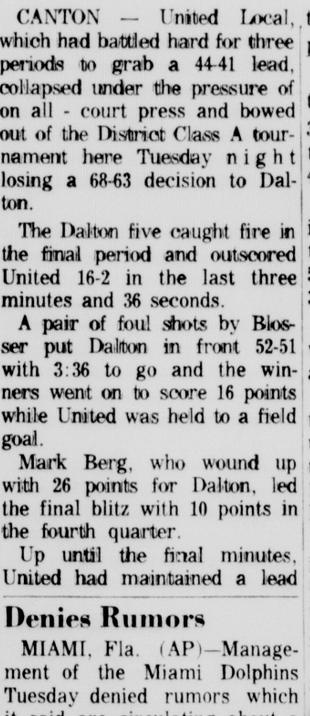

Juan is managing and playing second base for a softball team in his native Dominican Republic and the last time he was in touch with the Giants, he said "$125,000' and Chub Fenney said "no."

Marichal says he won't budge until Feeney meets his price but the Giants don't seem overly concerned.

"From what I hear," said owner Horace Stoneham, "Juan's in pretty good shape. I hope he is doing some throwing and keeping his arm loose."

Following the game, Kuzma pointed directly to his team's cold first half. "Fox Chapel came up with a good ball game, but we played poorly in the first half."

"Our game plan called for moving the ball more inside to make the two big boys work on defense, but we had too much outside shooting in the first half."

"We also had breakdowns on defense and did not have enough full court pressure. You can't play poor basketball for 16 minutes and expect to win," Kuzma said.

It was a case of the Nelsons almost outscoring the Leopards. Barry Nelson poured in 25 points and brought down 20 rebounds, while Garry was good for 18 points and 15 rebounds. Barry made 12 of 21 shots and Garry 7 of 12.

FOX CHAPEL started a team with the smallest man 6-1. Midland didn't have a starter over the six-foot mark.

In addition to their poor shooting from the floor, which figured out to 17 per cent the first half, Midland was only two for eight from the foul line in the first two periods.

The Leopards wound up shooting 29 per cent, while Fox Chapel hit 42 per cent.

Midland's usually reliable outside shot Jan Samuels was limited to four points. Substitute Larry Walker paced the Leopards with 12 points while Mahurt scored 10.

After trailing by 19 points, 31-12 at halftime, Midland was faced with an almost impossible task in the second half.

THE LEOPARDS did make one bid to catch up midway through the third quarter. With the Foxes on top 34-15, Midland spurted for six straight points on goals by Mahurt, Samuels and Dave Vanlier, bringing the score to 36-21, but Fox Chapel continued to lead by 13 points, 46-13, at the conclusion of three periods.

Jeff Lake, who finished with nine points, did an outstanding job on the backboards considering the opponents' height advantage by pulling down 15 rebounds.

The defeat left Midland with an overall 22-2 reocrd. The last time the Leopards appeared in the WPIAL tournament they went all the way to capture the 1965 state title.

Rich Allen Holding Out For 100G's

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When a guy grows up in Wampum, Pa., it's only natural that he develop a more than passing interest in money.

And when he hits .317, belts 40 home runs and knocks in 110 runs, the interest becomes intense.

So Rich Allen is prepared to spend this summer selling automobiles instead of belting baseballs unless the Philadelphia Phillies fill his pockets with cash.

Specifically, Allen is asking for $100,000, which is considerably more wampum than he got last year. He figures his figures make him worth the investment. But John Quinn, Philadelphia's general manager, who holds the purse strings, hasn't been swayed yet.

"Quinn saw me all last summer," argues Allen, who is keeping busy selling cars. "He knows what I did, what I didn't do. He talks about my salary going up a little each year.

"I want what I'm worth now, not when I'm an old man. He's got my figure. Maybe he thinks I'll come down. I won't."

Allen said he started thinking about this year's contract and the $100,000 figure when he was hurt last summer. He missed 24 games with a lame shoulder.

"That's all a player has got — his body," reasons Rich. "If I'd be seriously hurt so I couldn't play, what would I have? Nothing."

So Allen, who made $42,000 last year, decided to ask for six figures this season. He likes the security that kind of money provides.

If Quinn comes up with the $100,000, he can have Allen in camp. But it'll take more than that to get Juan Marichal into a San Francisco Giants' uniform.

Juan is managing and playing second base for a softball team in his native Dominican Republic and the last time he was in touch with the Giants, he said "$125,000" and Chub Feeney said "no."

Marichal says he won't budge until Feeney meets his price but the Giants don't seem overly concerned.

"From what I hear," said owner Horace Stoneham, "Juan's in pretty good shape. I hope he is doing some throwing and keeping his arm loose."

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't count Duke out of the NCAA postseason tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., are on the way back after being virtually counted out in the wake of their two December trouncings by the top-ranked UCLA Bruins and their supersophomore, Lew Alcindor.

Led by Bob Verga's 39 points, Coach Vic Bubas' boys crushed Wake Forest 113-71 Tuesday night for their fourth in a row and 11th victory in their last 12 starts.

Ahead is a Saturday afternoon game with nationally third-ranked North Carolina and then next week's Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament for an NCAA berth.

Verga scored 15 field goals on 20 shots and converted nine of 10 free throws as the Blue Devils upped their season record to 16-6. It was the highest point total ever for a visiting player on the Wake Forest court.

The Blue Devils reached the semifinals of the 1966 national tournament before losing to Kentucky at College Park, Md. They finished in third place by beating Utah.

Elvin Hayes of Houston and Jim Walker of Providence, named to the first team All-America by The Associated Press before game time, shared the scoring headlines with Verga.

Hayes scored 41 points for the seventh-ranked Houston team to lead the Cougars in a 106-64 home court rout of New Orleans Loyola.

Walker tallied 38 points to pace Providence to a 68-67 squeaker over the visiting DePaul Blue Demons. Two free throws by Walker in the last 33 seconds provided the winning margin.

The 10th-ranked Boston College Eagles, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, similarly pulled out an 80-76 home court victory over Canisius on successful free throws in the closing seconds.

Walt Tiberi, with 23 points, and Ron Kozlieki with 20 combined for 43 points to lead Northwestern to a 91-82 victory over Wisconsin at Evanston and keep the Wildcats one game back of first-place Indiana in the torrid Big Ten scramble.

Nebraska also kept its Big Eight hopes alive with an 80-73 road victory over Missouri behind Stuart Lantz's 25 points. Ron Coleman got 30 for the losers.

NEW YORK (AP) — West Virginia University's Ron Williams has received honorable mention All-American status in this year's Associated Press voting.

Wilt Breaks Record With 35 Straight

By The Associated Press

Big Wilt made the first four shots he took Tuesday night in Philadelphia's 127-107 victory over Cincinnati at Syracuse, N.Y., giving him a National Basketball Association record of 35 straight field goals.

The record before that was 19 straight, held by Chamberlain.

Besides hitting on 11 of 14 field goal attempts and scoring 28 points, Chamberlain also picked up nine assists and grabbed 36 rebounds against the Royals. Cincinnati was led by Oscar Robertson with 24 points.

The other two games on the schedule were played as a doubleheader in New York.

A field goal by Jerry West and a fumbled pass by Detroit's Dave DeBusschere gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 119-117 victory over the Pistons in the first game, and Willis Reeds field goal nailed down a 127-123 victory for New York over San Francisco in the second.

West, who scored 34 points, broke a 117-117 tie with 37 seconds remaining by hitting a jump shot. Then with six seconds to go, DeBusschere, Detroit's player-coach, took an inbounds pass and fumbled the ball right back out of bounds.

Baylor added 24 points for Los Angeles. Dave Bing and Eddie Miles scored 22 each and DeBusschere 21 for the Pistons.

Reed's basket with 27 seconds remaining put New York ahead 125-121 and ruined a 17-point, fourth quarter performance by San Francisco's Rick Barry.

NBA Players Threaten Boycott Over Pension

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A threat of a players' boycott of the upcoming National Basketball Association playoffs loomed today in an atmosphere of confusion.

A retroactive pension plan is at the heart of the controversy. The players say they have discussed this matter with the league; the league says no.

The player representatives of the league's 10 teams announced at a meeting here Tuesday that they would stage a sit-down strike if their demands aren't met by the time the playoffs begin in three weeks.

"The major part of our differences with the owners is that the pension program they offer is far short," said Lawrence Fleischer, the players' attorney. "We received what seems to be their final offer last Friday, and it was rejected unanimously here by the player representatives."

Kennedy said he first knew of the players association's announcement when he received a telegram at 3:35 p.m., stating:

"Player association at a meeting today, voted unanimously to turn down proposals of Board of Governors in reply to our request. (signed) Oscar Robertson."

He also said that he had held a series of meetings last week with Fleisher and that a retroactive pension plan was not discussed. In fact, he said, the players had never made a request for such a plan known to the league.

Super-Sophomore Alcindor Heads '67 All-Americans

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's supersophomore, was named today as the college basketball Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

The agile, 7-foot-1⅜ giant spread-eagled the field in the separate balloting that accompanied the voting for the 1967 All-America team which was announced Tuesday.

Alcindor, a native New Yorker who has lived up to all the rosy predictions made when he was still in high school, received 215 of 290 votes cast. Far behind in second place was Jim Walker of Providence with 49.

"Alcindor, who else?" was the comment of many voters.

Westley Unseld of Louisville's Missouri Valley Conference champions, was third with eight votes. Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Ron Widby of Tennessee and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers tied for fourth with four votes each.

Bob Verga of Duke, Eldridge Webb of Tulsa, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, and Larry Miller of North Carolina, Don May of Dayton, Sam Williams of Iowa received one vote each.

Alcindor dominated even more the voting for the All-America by 308 sports writers and broadcasters, 18 of whom did not participate in the separate balloting for player of the year.

Big Lew received 306 first team votes in the A-A voting for a total of 1,530 points on the basis of five for a first and two for a second team nod. He did not receive any second team votes which meant he was ignored completely by just two voters.

Selected on the first team with Alcindor were Walker, Unseld, Haskins and Elvin Hayes, the Big E of Houston, who did not receive any vote for player of the year.

Verga, Widby, Miller and Lloyd were named to the second team along wth Louie Dampier of Kentucky, who slipped from the 1966 first team.

Daniels was chosen on the third team with Butch Beard of Louisville, Sonny Dove of St. John New York, Jim Burns of Northwestern and David Lattin of Texas Western.

Lucious Allen of UCLA topped the honorable mentions which included May, Williams and Web..

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's supersophomore, was named today as the college basketball Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

The agile, 7-foot-1⅜ giant spread-eagled the field in the separate balloting that accompanied the voting for the 1967 All-America team which was announced Tuesday.

Alcindor, a native New Yorker who has lived up to all the rosy predictions made when he was still in high school, received 215 of 290 votes cast. Far behind in second place was Jim Walker of Providence with 49.

"Alcindor, who else?" was the comment of many voters.

Westley Unseld of Louisville's Missouri Valley Conference champions, was third with eight votes. Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Ron Widby of Tennessee and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers tied for fourth with four votes each.

Bob Verga of Duke, Eldridge Webb of Tulsa, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, and Larry Miller of North Carolina, Don May of Dayton, Sam Williams of Iowa received one vote each.

Alcindor dominated even more the voting for the All-America by 308 sports writers and broadcasters, 18 of whom did not participate in the separate balloting for player of the year.

Big Lew received 306 first team votes in the A-A voting for a total of 1,530 points on the basis of five for a first and two for a second team nod. He did not receive any second team votes which meant he was ignored completely by just two voters.

Selected on the first team with Alcindor were Walker, Unseld, Haskins and Elvin Hayes, the Big E of Houston, who did not receive any vote for player of the year.

Verga, Widby, Miller and Lloyd were named to the second team along wth Louie Dampier of Kentucky, who slipped from the 1966 first team.

Daniels was chosen on the third team with Butch Beard of Louisville, Sonny Dove of St. John New York, Jim Burns of Northwestern and David Lattin of Texas Western.

Lucious Allen of UCLA topped the honorable mentions which included May, Williams and Web..

Ernie Banks Has Title Of Player-Coach

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Ernie Banks, the lifeline of the Chicago Cubs since he came up in 1953, now owns his first executive title.

The 36-year-old Banks, awaiting the start of his 14th full season with the Cubs, has been named a player-coach.

"Ernie will be a great asset and invaluable addition to our coaching staff," manager Leo Durocher said.

Asked if the coaching role may mean the end of Banks' playing career, Durocher said: "Absolutely not. I said before spring training that I was going to give the kid (John Boccabella) a long look at first base. This will enable Ernie to take his time getting in shape and then we will decide who is going to play first base.

"Only then will we know whether Boccabella ran Banks off first, or Banks ran Boccabella out of the job. They are the only candidates."

Mid-American Conference Says No To Expansion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Mid-American Conference "is not interested in expansion at this time" is the word from MAC headquarters on reports Northern Illinois University hoped for admission to the athletic circuit.

NIU, at De Kalb, Ill., announced Tuesday its intention of moving from the college division to university division status in the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Athletic Director George (Chick) Evans added that Northern Illinois had made overtures to the MAC.

Kent State, Toledo, Bowling Green, Marshall, Western Michigan, Miami of Ohio and Ohio University round out the loop.

Asked about this Mid-American Commissioner Robert C. James said Tuesday night the conference's council of presidents on Feb. 16 had reaffirmed a 1965 policy decision against expansion.

ufacturers, complaining it would increase their tax bills by anywhere from 200 to 1,200 per cent. The tax is aimed at manufacturers and is said to be designed to make it equitable with taxes paid by other tax groups.

An alternate plan to raise an additional $10 million by placing a heavier rate on manufacturers and professional groups was introduced by Sens. John H. Bowling, D-Greenbrier and Tracy W. Hylton, D-Wyoming.

This bill would increase the gross sales tax rate for manufacturers from 40 cents on each $100 of gross income to 70 cents.

Professional groups, such as doctors, lawyers, dentists and other professional people would pay $1.05 for each $100 of gross income.

The bill had been tabled by the Finance Committee, with much of the pressure coming from Sen. Clarence E. Martin, D-Berkeley. Martin also is one of the leaders in the gross margin rebellion.

The committee withdrew a provision that would have banned dog race tracks within 50 miles of a horse track. This was seen as an attempt to sway Martin from his opposition to the gross margin tax since two horse tracks now operate in his Eastern Panhandle area.

The Senate delayed its scheduled vote Tuesday after Majority Leader William A. Moreland, D-Monongalia, contended an amendment approved on Monday had caused considerable disturbance.

This was an amendment offered by Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall, to take away the depletion allowance on natural resources for coal, gas and oil companies.

Moreland, calling it's a "deliberate attempt to make this bill unduly complicated," suggested the Senate may want to reconsider its vote on the amendment today. Carrigan countered that this was a "flimsily disguised effort to, postpone consideration of this bill."

Moved into position for amendments in the House today were the gross margin bill, a 6 per cent corporate net income tax to affect only a handful of businesses, and a 2 per cent personal income tax to replace the present graduated tax.

In other legislative action Tuesday:

— The Senate passed 27-7 and returned to the House a bill to increase penalties for shoplifting and to give storekeepers and their employes the right to detain a suspected shoplifter up to one hour without being liable for damage to the suspect.

— The Senate passed 28-6 and returned to the House to concur on amendments a bill to require more immunization for school children. Required under the bill would be immunization against tetanus, polio, measles and whooping cough.

— The House passed 96-0 a measure allowing West Virginia to receive several million dollars in federal reimbursement by repealing a $5 ceiling on the daily rate the state can charge for mental hospital patients who are able to pay. Removal of the ceiling paves the way for the state to receive special medicare funds for certain patients.

Jones Appointed To Advisory Unit

The appointment of John A. Jones of Weirton as a member of the West Virginia Small Business Advisory Council has been announced by Bernard L. Boutin, administrator of the Small Business Administration in Washington.

Council members are appointed from among representatives of independently - owned small businesses, from banking or financial areas and from other fields related to small business interests, such as labor leaders, educators, representatives of news media and Chambers of Commerce.

Boutin said National and state advisory councils of the Small Business Administration are established by law "to serve as a liaison between the small business community and the Small Business Administration."

Jones, who is director of public relations for the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp., will serve a two-year calendar term on the council.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

RONALD GILSON —
When the evening shades are falling and I sit here all alone. To my heart there comes a longing if you only could come home. They say time heals all sorrow and helps one to forget, but time so far has only proved how much I miss you yet. Although your soul is now at rest and free from care and pain. It would seem like heaven if I had you back again. God gives us strength to carry on. And courage to heal the blow but what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know. Beside your grave I often stand, my heart both crushed and sore. But in the gloom the sweet words come, "not lost, but gone before". God knows the tears I shed, then he whispers, "He only sleeps, your loved one is not "dead." So I'll be brave my dear, and pray to God each day, that when he calls me home to you, your smile will guide my way.

Sadly missed by wife and children.

ufacturers, complaining it would increase their tax bills by anywhere from 200 to 1,200 per cent. The tax is aimed at manufacturers and is said to be designed to make it equitable with taxes paid by other tax groups.

An alternate plan to raise an additional $10 million by placing a heavier rate on manufacturers and professional groups was introduced by Sens. John H. Bowling, D-Greenbrier and Tracy W. Hylton, D-Wyoming.

This bill would increase the gross sales tax rate for manufacturers from 40 cents on each $100 of gross income to 70 cents.

Professional groups, such as doctors, lawyers, dentists and other professional people would pay $1.05 for each $100 of gross income.

The bill had been tabled by the Finance Committee, with much of the pressure coming from Sen. Clarence E. Martin, D-Berkeley. Martin also is one of the leaders in the gross margin rebellion.

The committee withdrew a provision that would have banned dog race tracks within 50 miles of a horse track. This was seen as an attempt to sway Martin from his opposition to the gross margin tax since two horse tracks now operate in his Eastern Panhandle area.

The Senate delayed its scheduled vote Tuesday after Majority Leader William A. Moreland, D-Monongalia, contended an amendment approved on Monday had caused considerable disturbance.

This was an amendment offered by Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall, to take away the depletion allowance on natural resources for coal, gas and oil companies.

Moreland, calling it's a "deliberate attempt to make this bill unduly complicated," suggested the Senate may want to reconsider its vote on the amendment today. Carrigan countered that this was a "flimsily disguised effort to postpone consideration of this bill."

Moved into position for amendments in the House today were the gross margin bill, a 6 per cent corporate net income tax to affect only a handful of businesses, and a 2 per cent personal income tax to replace the present graduated tax.

In other legislative action Tuesday:

— The Senate passed 27-7 and returned to the House a bill to increase penalties for shoplifting and to give storekeepers and their employes the right to detain a suspected shoplifter up to one hour without being liable for damage to the suspect.

— The Senate passed 28-6 and returned to the House to concur on amendments a bill to require more immunization for school children. Required under the bill would be immunization against tetanus, polio, measles and whooping cough.

— The House passed 96-0 a measure allowing West Virginia to receive several million dollars in federal reimbursement by repealing a $5 ceiling on the daily rate the state can charge for mental hospital patients who are able to pay. Removal of the ceiling paves the way for the state to receive special medicare funds for certain patients.

Jones Appointed To Advisory Unit

The appointment of John A. Jones of Weirton as a member of the West Virginia Small Business Advisory Council has been announced by Bernard L. Boutin, administrator of the Small Business Administration in Washington.

Council members are appointed from among representatives of independently - owned small businesses, from banking or financial areas and from other fields related to small business interests, such as labor leaders, educators, representatives of news media and Chambers of Commerce.

Boutin said National and state advisory councils of the Small Business Administration are established by law "to serve as a liaison between the small business community and the Small Business Administration."

Jones, who is director of public relations for the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp., will serve a two-year calendar term on the council.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

RONALD GILSON —
When the evening shades are falling and I sit here all alone. To my heart there comes a longing if you only could come home. They say time heals all sorrow and helps one to forget, but time so far has only proved how much I miss you yet. Although your soul is now at rest and free from care and pain. It would seem like heaven if I had you back again. God gives us strength to carry on. And courage to heal the blow but what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know. Beside your grave I often stand, my heart both crushed and sore. But in the gloom the sweet words come, "not lost, but gone before". God knows the tears I shed, then he whispers, "He only sleeps, your loved one is not "dead." So I'll be brave my dear, and pray to God each day, that when he calls me home to you, your smile will guide my way.

Sadly missed by wife and children.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIBRARIES

QUESTION: What were the first libraries like?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Study the top picture. This is a library in an ancient city, such as Ninevah, Babylon or Ur, where modern civilization began, thousands of years ago. The "windows" have no panes, for this is a hot climate. What is it that the man is carrying—books? No, these are tablets of sun-dried clay. Marks made by a tool have been stamped on them while still wet. This is a form of very early writing, called cuneiform. The scholar to the right is examining the writing on such a tablet and is working out its message. This is an example of the first libraries, or groupings of records, of which we have knowledge. Following the libraries of clay tablets, came those with scrolls of papyrus paper, of books handwritten on parchment, and then the printed books we are all so familiar with. In the picture below, we sugegst the very latest library development; microcards and microfilms which are very small so they can be easily stored. They can be placed in an enlarger so that a person can easily read and study them.

Provost To Ask For A New Trial

LISBON — Louis Provost Jr., 45, of Nevada St., Wellsville, will seek a new trial following his conviction Tuesday on a charge of sodomy.

A Common Pleas Court jury returned the verdict to Judge Raymond S. Buzzard after deliberating 70 minutes. The trial began Monday.

Indicted by the January 1964 grand jury and under medical and psychiatric treatment since, Provost pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity at the time of the alleged offense.

Wellsville police arrested Provost and another man, but the charge against the latter was never carried through.

William J. Telzrow Jr. of Wellsville, defense counsel, told Judge Buzzard he will file a motion for a new trial.

Before dismissing the jurors, Judge Buzzard thanked them for their public service in deciding a "nasty" case. "Some of you probably didn't realize things like this happen, but now you know that they do," he said.

Whatever the court's ruling on the new trial motion, the law provides that a person convicted of a sex offense must undergo a pre-sentence examination at a state mental hospital.

House Gets Shafer Convention Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House was called back for a token session today to receive Gov. Shafer's limited constitutional convention bill from committee.

There was no positive assurance that the bill would be released to the floor, but Republican leaders said they were hopeful.

The bill, in the process of being amended, had been slated for committee action on Tuesday but a snag developed when lawmakers could not decide on the proper language.

"When I say language is our only problem, this could turn out to be a titanic problem," said Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny. "We're hopeful, but there is no assurance that the bill will be reported out on Wednesday."

The Shafer proposal, passed by the Senate two weeks ago, would authorize the voters to call a convention to revise specific articles of Pennsylvania's 93-year-old constitution.

On Monday, Shafer agreed to three amendments demanded by House Democrats as their price for insuring bipartisan support for the bill. Democrats in the Senate voted against the measure to a man.

The amendments would prohibit alteration of a section of the constitution interpreted as a ban against a graduated income tax, provide for partisan election of delegates, and expand somewhat the scope of the convention's deliberations.

The House Republican leadership hoped to set the bill up for a final vote next week and return it to the Senate for concurrence in the amendments.

Meeting in solo session while the Senate was in recess, the House marked time awaiting the key convention bill. No roll calls were scheduled for today.

On Tuesday, four bills were passed by the lower chamber, but they were of little consequence and drew no debate.

A spirited debate did develop, however, regarding Pennsylvania's mental health program. It was prompted by a published report contending that state officials had grossly overestimated the number of hospital beds available for mental patients.

Rep. Eugene M. Fulmer, R-Centre, defended the administration and said the report was incomplete. He pointed to progress in the mental health field, specifically to the enactment last year of legislation to establish community mental health centers.

"I would hope that we would not make the microphone a forum for our differences, but that we would make it a forum for positive actions," Fulmer said.

Fulmer, chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee, said a complete study was being prepared by the Governor's Advisory Committee on Mental Health.

"We, both Republicans and Democrats, on the Public Health and Welfare Committee will take a good look at the study when it is completed," he concluded.

Minority Whip K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, criticized Fulmer for defending what Irvis termed "incompetence and negligence on the part of bureaucrats."

Irvis, who last year headed a House investigation of the state's mental institutions, said he was shocked by the overcrowded conditions and inadequate facilities.

"Neither of us on either side can take any glory for the treatment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded in Pennsylvania," Irvis told his colleagues.

Several bills were introduced in the House. Among them was one that would require either the National Anthem to be sung or the Pledge of Allegiance to be recited prior to every sports event in the state. The bill was offered by Rep. Samuel W. Frank, D-Lehigh, and co-sponsored by Rep. Tom Gola, R-Philadelphia.

Another bill introduced would provide that Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence day and Columbus Day be observed on Mondays, to give Pennsylvanians more three-day holidays. Rep. William G. Piper, R-Berks, was the key sponsor.

QUESTION — "Is it proper to have private services, if that is our desire?"

ANSWER — Private services are perfectly proper, if you have logically decided upon that type service. Most families feel a real need for the presence of their friends at such a time, but the decision is one which each family must individually make.

QUESTION — "Is it proper to have private services, if that is our desire?"

ANSWER — Private services are perfectly proper, if you have logically decided upon that type service. Most families feel a real need for the presence of their friends at such a time, but the decision is one which each family must individually make.

"STOP TORTURING YOURSELF"
EASE YOUR ACHING BACK

More than 28 million Americans, according to Life, are resigned to suffering chronic and painful back ailments. But now, a noted Florida surgeon has outlined new procedures to relieve the aching back.

In his specialized practice at Miami's famed Coral Clinic, where many professional athletes from all over the country are regularly treated, Dr. James C. Chimerakis has come to the conclusion that abdominal support is the key factor in treating the "bad back".

Based on his clinical success, Dr. Chimerakis now prescribes "a light, comfortable easily-worn control undershort", to be worn night and day. He specifically recommends MANDATE, a control short knitted with a unique, patented construction. Dr. Chimerakis prescribes MANDATE, because, in his own words:

"This reduces pain by supporting the low back muscles, ligaments and cartilages, and takes the 'drag' off the lumbar nerves and the invertebral nerve of Luschka."

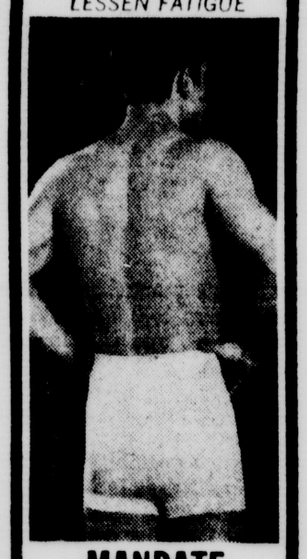

"A firm supporting light material (with good tensile strength) like MANDATE support-wear provides sufficient stability and is also easily worn by the patient."

"The MANDATE should be worn daily during working hours and in cases of severe pain, also while the patient is in bed. This garment also supports the pendulous abdomen, relieving mesenteric drag and reducing the anterior pull on the lumbar spine."

"In relieving the pull of the mesentery, the MANDATE will also lower your patient's blood pressure and heart rate."

MANDATE, worn by many men just for slimming and good posture, is also often prescribed for heart patients.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: In our location we have very hard water, and I always use a water softener (a granulated kind) in my wash water.

We also use the public washateria. So . . . when I am gathering up my wash, I get my husband's shirts, take them to the kitchen or bathroom, and sprinkle water and some granulated water softener along the collars.

I pick up one corner of the collar and rub across the soil "line" with it. I do this from both ends of the collar.

The granules serve as an abrasive and when they dissolve, they soften the body oil that is in the collar.

I leave this on the collar and by the time I wash it, the oil has softened and dissolved enough to completely wash out of the collar.

DEAR MISS BETTY: You not only hit the nail on the head, but you hit the line around our necks!

We tested your hint in a hard water area and it was fantabulous.

While we were in that area, we also tested washing windows. We found out some of the streaks left on windows were caused by using the hard water.

By putting water softener in a pail of water along with our cleaning agent we got sparkling clean windows, too. It sure helped eliminate the streaks.

And we thank you for helping us.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Your nylon net is for the birds. You can't fool me.

Sparrows had a nest in a down spout drain on our house, and in the nest was a piece of nylon net.

DEAR HELOISE: Any canned soup with broth may be made less fattening.

Place the unopened can in your ice box for about 24 hours. Almost a teaspoonful or more of congealed fat will float on top. Remove it, heat and serve the rest as usual.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a graat idea my father hit on when our shower drain wouldn't work.

After he took off the perforated plate, he stuck an old door spring down the pipe and twisted it. Out came all the hair in the drain.

ROBIN JACKSON.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently one of your readers suggested that the best way to avoid broken fingernails from pulling pins out of pin-on price tags, was to use a wooden clothespin to remove the pin.

There is a much simpler and faster way to extract the bent pin without using any tool.

Clash the bottom of the price ticket with the thumb and forefinger of both hands. Tear the ticket up throuth the middle, going up with the right hand and down with the left.

As the leading manufacturer of pin-on tickets, we know from long experience how simple this removal is, if done correctly.

HOWARD L. MILLER.

DEAR HELOISE: Save time and money when changing hemlines by reusing the thread chainstitched into garments.

Remove thread in one continuous piece but cutting through the chainstitch, then pulling the thread which loops over top of chainstitch. The entire hemline will be released when you pull this one thread.

You can use this matching thread to put in a new hemline, mend seams, sew on buttons . . . without hunting for the right color.

DEAR HELOISE: I find that the best way to keep a bread package shut is with a clothespin.

It holds the end snug and is quicker than twisting the little wire around the end.

DOLORES ALLISON.

DEAR HELOISE: I found another use for an infant seat.

When I give my baby a bath, I remove the plastic pad from it and replace the pad with a folded bath towel. This way the infant seat makes a nice bath tub.

Now I have two free hands to bathe her.

Weight After Hysterectomy Not Necessary

It is easy to add poundage following any surgery because of the sudden decrease in activity. However, the mistake is in taking the attitude that such a gain is inevitable. Friends may inadvertently give a pessimistic view so that the convalescent resigns herself to becoming heavy instead of taking preventive measures.

Ida Jean Kain

A homemaker writes: "Could you help us women who have had a hysterectomy? The women in our town who have had this operation keep getting fatter. One has gained 40 pounds. Friends claim it is bound to happen. Is this true?" she asks.

Thousands of women have this operation every year, and many of them do not add unwanted poundage. Following a hysterectomy, one may or may not burn fewer calories, but there is a change in the endocrine system. Because of this change it is important to take preventive measures. . .control calories and keep up physical exercise.

Last fall I reported on a mother and daughter team who reduced together. The mother weighed 189 pounds and the daughter, age 22, weighed 196. Both were 5' 2" tall and wore size 20½ dress.

They planned good meals, concentrated on the protective foods, vegetables, lean meat and fruit, and cut out the fattening extras. The first year the mother reduced 47 pounds and the daughter lost 59 pounds. This was a perfect reducing rate of 4 to 5 pounds per month. In the second year they gradually brought their weight to desirable level — the daughter to 115 pounds and the mother to 135 pounds.

A FOLLOW-UP letter from the mother contained this surprising information: "In my previous report I did not mention that I decided to reduce after I had had a hysterectomy. It seemed to be an excellent time to change my food habits. We did not take appetite depressant pills. We simply changed our ways of eating," she concluded.

Their new food habits paid dividends, for they have both held the weightline for more than five years now.

After an operation, a shift to a highly protective pattern, with emphasis on the repair and replacement nutrients, is just what the doctor orders.

The pattern: Skim milk or buttermilk, 3 glasses; lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, cooked weight, with liver once or twice a week. For additional protein a half cup of cottage cheese can be added. Vegetables, dark green leafy or yellow, plus second vegetable; fruits, one citrus, plus 2 others, unsweetened. Whole grain cereal can be alternated with an egg for breakfast. Two slices of bread, lightly buttered.

Trustees OK Extra Crew In Madison

Questions about snow removal were asked the trustees—George Dunn and Frank Woodrow — by Walter Roberts of Suburban Heights and Richard Adney of Alderlick Rd.

It was pointed out that only Carl Adams, the regular road employe, worked during this week's snow. Previously, Dunn and Constable Clarence Ammon had worked, but Woodrow had opposed additional help.

However, Woodrow and Dunn last night approved hiring extra help for emergency snow removal.

It was reported the plow had been broken and a new part was to be obtained today from the Our Co. of Salineville.

A budget of $38,472 was approved by the trustees for 1967, about the same amount as last year. However, last year some additional funds were received later.

The trustees authorized $107 as the township's per capita membership fee in the Columbiana County Regional Planning Commission. Dunn is the township representative.

Bills paid amounted to $2,268. Revenue included $800 from the gasoline tax and $76 from the state sales tax.

The next meeting will be March 14. Trustee Isaac Jones was absent, recovering from an illness.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The man I'm about to marry is 20 years old. I'm 19. The problem is his mother.

Louie sets the alarm clock for 6:45 a.m., which would give him plenty of time to get ready, pick me up at 7:45, take me to my job and get to his place of employment by 8:45.

About three mornings a week his dear mother thinks he doesn't get enough rest, so she tiptoes into his bedroom and turns off his alarm clock. Of course he oversleeps, which causes him to be late for work. Naturally, I'm late also.

Louie has begged his mother to stay out of his room and keep her hands off his alarm but she continues to do it anyway.

Please tell me what to do. This problem has caused some very bitter arguments between us. — BURNED UP.

Dear Burned: Tell Louie to put the clock under the mattress if he doesn't want Mom to turn off the alarm.

Drink To Me Only

Dear Ann Landers: I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your advice to the wife whose husband takes her to cocktail parties and then proceeds to ignore her.

You told her to go with him and make conversation on her own, or else stay home and stop complaining. There was even a hint of praise for the louse for taking his wife along.

The notion that men must go to cocktail parties for business reasons is as phony an excuse as "sitting up with a sick friend." Cocktail parties are a substitute for getting stoned in some crummy bar. Only the furniture is different.

So why don't you stick up for us women for a change? You are so prejudiced in favor of men that I'm beginning to wonder if maybe you aren't a man yourself. — THUMBS DOWN ON LANNDERS.

Dear Thumbs: A husband who abandons his wife at cocktail parties is not going to change because I tell him to. Especially when he didn't ask for my advice, it was his wife who wrote. I repeat — make it on your own or stay home.

Quiet, Please

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow whose husband died almost three years ago. I have a friend who lost his wife two years ago. We have known each other for a long time and I've seen Mr. Solo around town a lot lately — also unaccompanied.

A few weeks ago I wrote Mr. Solo a note suggesting that since he is without a wife and I am without a husband we ought to get together — perhaps I could cheer him up. He did not respond to my note and I feel that maybe I made a fool of myself.

What should I say when we next meet? It is just a matter of time before we run into one another again. — DURHAM WIDOW.

Dear Durham: Don't say anything. You've said too much already. If you give a small dinner party and wish to include Mr. Solo, along with others, fine — but a widow who offers to "cheer up" an unmarried man might be classed as overly aggressive. Nothing clobbers Cupid quite as dead as a pushy female.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2 Special Awards Are Made During Dinner For Cub Pack

Two special awards were received during the annual Blue and Gold dinner meeting of Cub Pack 34 of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church in the social rooms, with places arranged for 144.

Other guests introduced by James Anderson were den mothers, Mrs. Patsy McCartney, Mrs. Helen Sell, Mrs. Dolores Rogers, Mrs. Adella Sloan, Mrs. Ruby Barcus, Mrs. Ruth Ann Woodward and Mrs. Maxine Hildebrand.

Committee men introduced were Clyde Downard, Elzie Rogers, Dr. Blair Whittington, Herbert Sell, Anderson and the new member, John Bell. Speaking on behalf of the church, Downard thanked the group for its work.

The tractor has played an important role in the increase of world food production, especially since World War II. In countries exclusive of Russia and the United States, the number of tractors has increased from 400,000 in 1938 to more than four million today.

Bliss Plans Scholarships

The E. W. Bliss Co. will continue its scholarship program for the 12th consecutive year, E. P. Sandbach, division manager, has announced.

Thirty-three students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last four years, now are being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under the program.

They are located at 20 universities, and include candidates for mechanical, electrical, industrial and metallurgical engineering degrees.

The students are sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions.

Administered by the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division personnel director, R. F. Crawford, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need, Sandbach said. Summer employment, when available, has been provided for many of the scholarship students.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school in February or June 1967 with good scholastic rating and taken qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering and he must maintain scholastic and personal standings satisfactory to the college of his choice.

A pinchful or two of minced fresh herbs plus some sherry will do wonders for canned consomme. Slowly heat the consomme with the herbs (use parsley and chives if nothing else is on hand) and add the sherry off heat.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Tapioca, often used in puddings, comes from the roots of the cassava plant. In the natural state, the roots contain highly poisonous hydrocyanic acid and therefore cannot be eaten. To obtain the starchy tapioca pellets, the roots are exposed to heat, which dissipates the acid.

Rotarians At Lisbon Urge 'Lock Your Car'

LISBON — The Rotary Club will affix small "Lock Your Car" stickers to all parking meters in town during Rotary Week, beginning March 20.

He appointed several members to contact eight prospective members. Charles Pike and Richard Kennedy are team captains in the membership contest.

Speaker Tells Rotarians Of Pharmaceutical Gains

The role of pharmaceutical discoveries in the advancement of medical science in the past 20 years was outlined in a talk, "Miracles in the Making," by James R. Johnson of Beaver Falls during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Drugs and advanced surgical methods that are now commonplace were unknown to doctors in the 1930's, Johnson pointed out. "More medical progress has been made in the last 20 years than the preceding 20 centuries," he stated.

The speaker said research laboratories have developed "miracles of medicine" which have drastically reduced the number of deaths resulting from tuberculosis, influenza, whooping cough, measles and in childbirth.

Each year, he continued, $350 million is spent in pharmaceutical research and development. With models, he illustrated how atomic structures of compounds are altered to derive a variety of benefits.

"If our company discovers one significant development in thousands of tests, we consider the testing a success," he remarked.

He warned against the abolishment of trademarks, advocated by some. "It might endanger public health and the quality of the drugs," he cautioned.

"Even in the Soviet Union, state - owned firms now have names, and trademarks are used," Johnson said.

He acknowledged that the price of some drugs is high, but said that the average prescription price has been calculated to be $3.26.

"And drugs heal quickly and get us back on our feet and back on the job, so a saving in wages results," Johnson said.

Francis Lang substituted as program chairman for Charles Lang, his son, who was unable to attend.

Jules Jacob, a Midland Rotarian, was a visitor.

Sentencing Delayed For Lisbon Area Man

LISBON — Sentencing of Robert Neff, 44, of Lisbon R. D. 1 scheduled for Tuesday in Juvenile Court was continued until next Tuesday because of the absence of Judge Louis Tobin.

Neff pleaded guilty Feb. 6 to a charge of taking indecent liberties with his 17-year-old stepdaughter.

Scuba Divers Locate Bodies Of Two Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—A glove on the ice led scuba divers to the bodies of two Avon Lake boys, who were found about 200 feet off Lake Erie's shore near Huntington Beach Park Tuesday.

The bodies of Richard Myers, 13, and John Stanley, 15, were in 12 feet of water. The boys were riding their bicycles on frozen Lake Erie Sunday when they crashed through the ice.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The man I'm about to marry is 20 years old. I'm 19. The problem is his mother.

Louie sets the alarm clock for 6:45 a.m., which would give him plenty of time to get ready, pick me up at 7:45, take me to my job and get to his place of employment by 8:45.

About three mornings a week his dear mother thinks he doesn't get enough rest, so she tiptoes into his bedroom and turns off his alarm clock. Of course he oversleeps, which causes him to be late for work. Naturally, I'm late also.

Louie has begged his mother to stay out of his room and keep her hands off his alarm but she continues to do it anyway.

Please tell me what to do. This problem has caused some very bitter arguments between us. — BURNED UP.

Dear Burned: Tell Louie to put the clock under the mattress if he doesn't want Mom to turn off the alarm.

Drink To Me Only

Dear Ann Landers: I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your advice to the wife whose husband takes her to cocktail parties and then proceeds to ignore her.

You told her to go with him and make conversation on her own, or else stay home and stop complaining. There was even a hint of praise for the louse for taking his wife along.

The notion that men must go to cocktail parties for business reasons is as phony an excuse as "sitting up with a sick friend." Cocktail parties are a substitute for getting stoned in some crummy bar. Only the furniture is different.

So why don't you stick up for us women for a change? You are so prejudiced in favor of men that I'm beginning to wonder if maybe you aren't a man yourself. — THUMBS DOWN ON LANNDERS.

Dear Thumbs: A husband who abandons his wife at cocktail parties is not going to change because I tell him to. Especially when he didn't ask for my advice, it was his wife who wrote. I repeat — make it on your own or stay home.

Quiet, Please

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow whose husband died almost three years ago. I have a friend who lost his wife two years ago. We have known each other for a long time and I've seen Mr. Solo around town a lot lately — also unaccompanied.

A few weeks ago I wrote Mr. Solo a note suggesting that since he is without a wife and I am without a husband we ought to get together — perhaps I could cheer him up. He did not respond to my note and I feel that maybe I made a fool of myself.

What should I say when we next meet? It is just a matter of time before we run into one another again. — DURHAM WIDOW.

Dear Durham: Don't say anything. You've said too much already. If you give a small dinner party and wish to include Mr. Solo, along with others, fine — but a widow who offers to "cheer up" an unmarried man might be classed as overly aggressive. Nothing clobbers Cupid quite as dead as a pushy female.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two special awards were received during the annual Blue and Gold dinner meeting of Cub Pack 34 of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church in the social rooms, with places arranged for 144.

Other guests introduced by James Anderson were den mothers, Mrs. Patsy McCartney, Mrs. Helen Sell, Mrs. Dolores Rogers, Mrs. Adella Sloan, Mrs. Ruby Barcus, Mrs. Ruth Ann Woodward and Mrs. Maxine Hildebrand.

Committee men introduced were Clyde Downard, Elzie Rogers, Dr. Blair Whittington, Herbert Sell, Anderson and the new member, John Bell. Speaking on behalf of the church, Downard thanked the group for its work.

The tractor has played an important role in the increase of world food production, especially since World War II. In countries exclusive of Russia and the United States, the number of tractors has increased from 400,000 in 1938 to more than four million today.

Bliss Plans Scholarships

The E. W. Bliss Co. will continue its scholarship program for the 12th consecutive year, E. P. Sandbach, division manager, has announced.

Thirty-three students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last four years, now are being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under the program.

They are located at 20 universities, and include candidates for mechanical, electrical, industrial and metallurgical engineering degrees.

The students are sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions.

Administered by the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division personnel director, R. F. Crawford, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need, Sandbach said. Summer employment, when available, has been provided for many of the scholarship students.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school in February or June 1967 with good scholastic rating and taken qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering and he must maintain scholastic and personal standings satisfactory to the college of his choice.

A pinchful or two of minced fresh herbs plus some sherry will do wonders for canned consomme. Slowly heat the consomme with the herbs (use parsley and chives if nothing else is on hand) and add the sherry off heat.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Tapioca, often used in puddings, comes from the roots of the cassava plant. In the natural state, the roots contain highly poisonous hydrocyanic acid and therefore cannot be eaten. To obtain the starchy tapioca pellets, the roots are exposed to heat, which dissipates the acid.

Rotarians At Lisbon Urge 'Lock Your Car'

LISBON — The Rotary Club will affix small "Lock Your Car" stickers to all parking meters in town during Rotary Week, beginning March 20.

He appointed several members to contact eight prospective members. Charles Pike and Richard Kennedy are team captains in the membership contest.

Speaker Tells Rotarians Of Pharmaceutical Gains

The role of pharmaceutical discoveries in the advancement of medical science in the past 20 years was outlined in a talk, "Miracles in the Making," by James R. Johnson of Beaver Falls during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Drugs and advanced surgical methods that are now commonplace were unknown to doctors in the 1930's, Johnson pointed out. "More medical progress has been made in the last 20 years than the preceding 20 centuries," he stated.

The speaker said research laboratories have developed "miracles of medicine" which have drastically reduced the number of deaths resulting from tuberculosis, influenza, whooping cough, measles and in childbirth.

Each year, he continued, $350 million is spent in pharmaceutical research and development. With models, he illustrated how atomic structures of compounds are altered to derive a variety of benefits.

"If our company discovers one significant development in thousands of tests, we consider the testing a success," he remarked.

He warned against the abolishment of trademarks, advocated by some. "It might endanger public health and the quality of the drugs," he cautioned.

"Even in the Soviet Union, state - owned firms now have names, and trademarks are used," Johnson said.

He acknowledged that the price of some drugs is high, but said that the average prescription price has been calculated to be $3.26.

"And drugs heal quickly and get us back on our feet and back on the job, so a saving in wages results," Johnson said.

Francis Lang substituted as program chairman for Charles Lang, his son, who was unable to attend.

Jules Jacob, a Midland Rotarian, was a visitor.

Sentencing Delayed For Lisbon Area Man

LISBON — Sentencing of Robert Neff, 44, of Lisbon R. D. 1 scheduled for Tuesday in Juvenile Court was continued until next Tuesday because of the absence of Judge Louis Tobin.

Scuba Divers Locate Bodies Of Two Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—A glove on the ice led scuba divers to the bodies of two Avon Lake boys, who were found about 200 feet off Lake Erie's shore near Huntington Beach Park Tuesday.

The bodies of Richard Myers, 13, and John Stanley, 15, were in 12 feet of water. The boys were riding their bicycles on frozen Lake Erie Sunday when they crashed through the ice.

2,000 Invitations Mailed For 'Wedding Of Year'

Some 2,000 invitations to the April 1 wedding of Sharon Percy and John D. Rockefeller IV are in the mail.

Not since Luci Johnson and Patrick Nugent announced their engagement has a young couple's marital plans aroused so much interest.

Like the President's daughter, Sharon has expressed the hope that she and her fiance will be treated "just like any other couple."

Her wish is as unlikely to be granted as was Luci's.

"Instead of his and hers seats at the wedding, they'll have to have Democrats and Republicans," one of Sharon's friends said when the engagement was announced Nov. 29.

Rockefeller, 29, nephew of Republican Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, recently was elected to the West Virginia Legislature as a Democrat.

Sharon, 21, whose father, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, is mentioned as a possible Republican contender for the presidency, says she has become a Democrat since her engagement.

A slender, wide-eyed extrovert with long, wheat-colored hair, Sharon presents striking contrast to Rockefeller, 6-feet-6½ inches tall and darkly handsome with brown hair and green eyes.

"She's an activist by nature," Rockefeller has said of his fiance.

Sharon chose the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Chapel for her wedding.

Her father is a graduate of the university and a board member. Rockefeller's great-grandfather provided the funds to found the university and to build the nondenominational chapel, dedicated in 1928.

Sharon will walk a 265-foot-long aisle to the altar, past 51 pews in which the 2,000 guests will be seated.

Because the Christian Science denomination, of which the Percys are members, has no set marriage service, the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer will be used. An organ and choir will furnish music.

A reception immediately after the wedding will be held in Ida Noyes Hall, a student center resembling an English Tudor manor house, across the street from the chapel.

One hundred guests have been invited to the traditional rehearsal dinner on the wedding eve given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III, in the Arts Club.

RHEUMATIC FEVER IS ALWAYS DANGEROUS

It is now believed that rheumatic fever is caused by the same streptococcus germ which causes a strep throat. It can make a child or adult tired and have painful joints or abdominal tenderness.

More serious results occur. The illness inflames the heart's mitral valve. Scar tissue can form and permanent damage may result. Worse yet, a child does not grow out of this and can get rheumatic fever over and over again. Physicians know these dangers, but can protect you most if they are consulted about any sore throat as soon as possible.

Motorist, 22, Unhurt In Rogers Hill Mishap

A Michigan driver escaped injury when his car, towing another, skidded into a guardrail on the Route 7 hill north of Rogers Tuesday morning, partially blocking traffic.

The Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Michael Hill, 22, of Olivet, Mich., was headed south in a 1964 coach, towing a 1964 sedan when he lost control on the icy pavement attempting to slow for traffic ahead.

2,000 Invitations Mailed For 'Wedding Of Year'

Some 2,000 invitations to the April 1 wedding of Sharon Percy and John D. Rockefeller IV are in the mail.

Not since Luci Johnson and Patrick Nugent announced their engagement has a young couple's marital plans aroused so much interest.

Her wish is as unlikely to be granted as was Luci's.

"Instead of his and hers seats at the wedding, they'll have to have Democrats and Republicans," one of Sharon's friends said when the engagement was announced Nov. 29.

Rockefeller, 29, nephew of Republican Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, recently was elected to the West Virginia Legislature as a Democrat.

Sharon, 21, whose father, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, is mentioned as a possible Republican contender for the presidency, says she has become a Democrat since her engagement.

A slender, wide-eyed extrovert with long, wheat-colored hair, Sharon presents striking contrast to Rockefeller, 6-feet-6½ inches tall and darkly handsome with brown hair and green eyes.

Sharon chose the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Chapel for her wedding.

Her father is a graduate of the university and a board member. Rockefeller's great-grandfather provided the funds to found the university and to build the nondenominational chapel, dedicated in 1928.

Sharon will walk a 265-foot-long aisle to the altar, past 51 pews in which the 2,000 guests will be seated.

Because the Christian Science denomination, of which the Percys are members, has no set marriage service, the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer will be used. An organ and choir will furnish music.

A reception immediately after the wedding will be held in Ida Noyes Hall, a student center resembling an English Tudor manor house, across the street from the chapel.

One hundred guests have been invited to the traditional rehearsal dinner on the wedding eve given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III, in the Arts Club.

RHEUMATIC FEVER IS ALWAYS DANGEROUS

It is now believed that rheumatic fever is caused by the same streptococcus germ which causes a strep throat. It can make a child or adult tired and have painful joints or abdominal tenderness.

More serious results occur. The illness inflames the heart's mitral valve. Scar tissue can form and permanent damage may result. Worse yet, a child does not grow out of this and can get rheumatic fever over and over again. Physicians know these dangers, but can protect you most if they are consulted about any sore throat as soon as possible.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

3-Part Program Given At Meeting Of Jaycees

Gay Billingsley screened slides of a tour he made of Russia. He cited his inability to communicate with the people because the tour was conducted by a Russian agency and there were various restrictions. There were no restrictions on taking pictures, however, he said. He plans to screen more slides in the future.

Miss Ruth Ann Sutton and Miss Susan Speery, Vista volunteers, described their work in the area and screened a film. They are primarily concerned with establishing 4-H groups for children from low - income families. They said they are seeking adult volunteers, especially men, to sponsor small groups.

William Kozel said a Cadillac Dinner will be held March 8 at the Country Club. Glen Adams, regional vice president, discussed the regional session to be held at East Liverpool in April by the East Liverpool and Wellsville Jaycees.

Don Beauchamp was named chairman of the Spoke - Spark Plug awards committee. The Jaycees are nearing the membership quota needed to qualify for a state award for the second consecutive year.

Fred Luhrs, chairman, reported on the Governor's Night banquet April 25 at the Country Club. A delegation will visit East Palestine tonight to establish a new Jaycee chapter.

John Hedrick, youth and government chairman, said students will take over city offices April 5. A "Student Rule" day will be held at the high school the same day.

Paul Zehnder, chairman, said the annual show April 26-29 will be known as the Home, Industrial and Auto Show.

A plan for the annual election of officers in April was presented by Charles Lang, president. The program, calling for the chapter to be divided into three parties, was adopted.

The next meeting will be be March 27 at the motel. The East Liverpool High School Forum Club will present a debate on "Should foreign aid be limited to non - military assistance?"

Republicans Push Bond, Apportionment Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the governor's pleas ringing in their ears, majority Republicans pressed today to tie up loose ends for final legislative action on administration bond and apportionment proposals.

Gov. James A. Rhodes headed for the Far East on a trade mission to find markets for more Ohio exports after calling for adoption of both constitutional amendment proposals Tuesday night in his State of the State message to a joint Senate-House session.

Both issues have been worked over extensively in their bumpy progress through the legislature. And both still face a rough road before expected adoption to place them on May 2 election ballots for final determination by voters.

The House approved the apportionment resolution and returned it to the Senate for action on numerous changes that could send the proposal to a conference committee for compromise.

The House vote was 77-21 with Democrats casting the negative tallies. Sixteen Democrats joined 61 Republicans in voting "yes". Rep. John Harvey Weis R-25 Fairfield was listed as not voting.

Senate changes in the resolution to create an Ohio Bond Commission ran into House disapproval and wound up in a separate joint conference committee.

Both resolutions carry a May 2 date for placing them on ballots for submission to voters on primary election day.

A separate bill to provide for state reimbursement to local communities that would not otherwise hold primary elections faltered in the House for lack of Democratic support.

A conference committee report adjusting differences between the two houses on the statewide election bill lost in the House, 64-34, with Rep. Richard Christiansen D-17 Richland listed as not voting. Leaders promptly agreed to a new conference committee.

An emergency clause in the report required 66 votes for passage. Rep. A. G. Lancione D-30 Belmont predicted that without a statewide election law on the books, a state supreme court challenge on the constitutional amendment issues could be expected.

Attorneys differed over the need for the election bill in addition to the May 2 date in both resolutions. Some said the bill was needed to forestall litigation. Others disagreed.

The amendment provided that in event all five members of the apportioning board are of the same party, the defeated candidate for secretary of state would take that official's place to provide minority representation.

If the defeated secretary of state candidate could not serve, the line of succession would be the defeated nominees for auditor, governor, attorney general and treasurer, in that order.

As it reached the House floor from the senate, the resolution set the order of succession as treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state, auditor and governor.

The resolution would add the treasurer and attorney general to the governor, secretary of state and auditor on the present apportionment board for a total of five members.

All meetings of the apportionment board to be open to the public — sponsored by Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin D - 81 Youngstown, Mahoning.

Addition to the board of two legislative members from each house—by Rep. James M. Holzemer D-78 Toledo Lucas.

Four - year terms for state representatives, who now serve for two years, by Rep. Anthony J. Russo D-43 Cleveland Cuyahoga.

Sixteen new measures were offered in the two houses.

House proposals would establish an Ohio military cemetery with an initial appropriation of $25,000 for planning, prevent municipal and common pleas judges turning age 70 from seeking re - election and relieve broadcasting stations from required announcement of paid political ad sponsors.

Senate proposals would extend from three to four years the life of driver licenses and require the Bureau of Motor Vehicles to notify operators when their licenses are about to expire.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

The Fighting Bickersons

Most domestic comedy has vanished from TV today, and I like to think that the Donna Reeds, Ozzies and Harriets and Robert Youngs might still have been around today if they hadn't been so forever sweet and loving.

Hal Humphrey

The thought hit me again while watching Frances Langford and Don Ameche do one of their typically funny "The Bickersons" routines for ABC's "Hollywood Palace" (scheduled to air May 13).

-:-

JOHN BICKERSON has given his shrewish wife, Blanche, the money for a tonsillectomy, which she spends on clothes, then pretends to John she can't talk in order to cover up her duplicity.

The enduring and highly endurable Bickersons first began bickering in 1946 on an old radio show. Danny Thomas, a newcomer in those days, was one of the show's stars, as was Don Ameche. Miss Langford had been hired as a singer backed by the Carmen Dragon orchestra.

"Our writer, Phil Rapp, had the idea for the Bickersons sketch, and it became a regular part of the show with Don and me. Later, we moved over to another radio show, and after that we did the Bickersons on still another show," recalled Miss Langford, following her carefully rehearsed "tonsillectomy."

PERIODICALLY and almost perennially the Bickersons have popped up somewhere along the entertainment line since that raucous debut in 1946. Four years ago Ameche and Miss Langford did two Bickersons record albums.

Two different sponsors have used them in one-minute radio commercials, and in 1950-51 the Bickersons were seen for the first time on TV in "Startime" on the old Dumont Network.

Ameche wss not available for the TV series, so Lew Parker played John, but since then it has been Ameche and Miss Langford.

The same Phil Rapp also directs and writes the Bickersons whenever they perform. It is a labor of love, because Rapp usually is busy writing and-or producing something in TV or movies.

"I WOULDN'T think of doing the Bickersons unless Phil was around to direct it, even if it's one of our old routines," said Miss Langford. "It's the timing and everything he puts into it that makes us so real and funny."

The day before taping this "Hollywood Palace" show, Rapp had Ameche and Miss Langford rehearsing in a corner of the theater lobby, and a passing tourist (female) became so alarmed when she overheard John and Blanche going at each other, she called the police.

Rapp considered the incident a great compliment. He makes Ameche and Miss Langford memorize each script. The use of "idiot" or cue cards, Rapp feels, would ruin the rapid-fire timing so necessary to his dialogue.

A BICKERSONS script is funny to read, but there is no doubt that a great deal is added by the performance of the well-directed Ameche-Langford duo.

One of their 2 a.m. fights will begin with Blanche saying to John, "You used to be so considerate. Since you got married to me you haven't got any sympathy at all."

THE CLOSEST anyone ever came in so-called domestic TV comedy to the Bickersons was Jackie Gleason's original "Honeymooners" sketches, and they were so close that Phil Rapp filed suit against Gleason & Co. It was settled out of court.

Why hasn't Rapp brought the Bickersons to TV as a self-contained half-hour series?

"I had some half-hearted thoughts about it," he says, "but I never pursued it because I knew the networks would insist on a laugh track, and this would spoil the Bickersons.

As many deaths are caused annually in the United States by the stings of ants, bees, hornets, wasps and yellow jackets as by snakes and all other venomous creatures put together.

Pravda Hurls Charge At CIA

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda charged today that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency has used American exchange students in the Soviet Union for espionage work.

The CIA "would like to replace the lofty cause of cultural and scientific exchange with the dirty cause of espionage," said a long article in the Soviet Communist party paper.

"Of course," Pravda said, "far from all American scientists and students who arrive in the Soviet Union are professional agents of U.S. intelligence or are 'volunteers' who took upon themselves the fulfillment of espionage functions.

"But one has to take into consideration that the CIA tries by any means to involve in espionage work as many American students studying in the Soviet Union as possible."

The article said some 300 students and exchange professors have come here since the Soviet-American cultural exchange program began in 1958.

"The first American students had hardly settled down in Moscow University buildings" when the U.S. Embassy's military attache ordered his subordinates to use the students to collect espionage information, Pravda charged.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

The Fighting Bickersons

Most domestic comedy has vanished from TV today, and I like to think that the Donna Reeds, Ozzies and Harriets and Robert Youngs might still have been around today if they hadn't been so forever sweet and loving.

Hal Humphrey

The thought hit me again while watching Frances Langford and Don Ameche do one of their typically funny "The Bickersons" routines for ABC's "Hollywood Palace" (scheduled to air May 13).

-:-

JOHN BICKERSON has given his shrewish wife, Blanche, the money for a tonsillectomy, which she spends on clothes, then pretends to John she can't talk in order to cover up her duplicity.

The enduring and highly endurable Bickersons first began bickering in 1946 on an old radio show. Danny Thomas, a newcomer in those days, was one of the show's stars, as was Don Ameche. Miss Langford had been hired as a singer backed by the Carmen Dragon orchestra.

"Our writer, Phil Rapp, had the idea for the Bickersons sketch, and it became a regular part of the show with Don and me. Later we moved over to another radio show, and after that we did the Bickersons on still another show," recalled Miss Langford, following her carefully rehearsed "tonsillectomy."

PERIODICALLY and almost perennially the Bickersons have popped up somewhere along the entertainment line since that raucous debut in 1946. Four years ago Ameche and Miss Langford did two Bickersons record albums.

Two different sponsors have used them in one-minute radio commercials, and in 1950-51 the Bickersons were seen for the first time on TV in "Startime" on the old Dumont Network.

Ameche wss not available for the TV series, so Lew Parker played John, but since then it has been Ameche and Miss Langford.

"I WOULDN'T think of doing the Bickersons unless Phil was around to direct it, even if it's one of our old routines," said Miss Langford. "It's the timing and everything he puts into it that makes us so real and funny."

The day before taping this "Hollywood Palace" show, Rapp had Ameche and Miss Langford rehearsing in a corner of the theater lobby, and a passing tourist (female) became so alarmed when she overheard John and Blanche going at each other, she called the police.

Rapp considered the incident a great compliment. He makes Ameche and Miss Langford memorize each script. The use of "idiot" or cue cards, Rapp feels, would ruin the rapid-fire timing so necessary to his dialogue.

A BICKERSONS script is funny to read, but there is no doubt that a great deal is added by the performance of the well-directed Ameche-Langford duo.

One of their 2 a.m. fights will begin with Blanche saying to John, "You used to be so considerate. Since you got married to me you haven't got any sympathy at all."

"I have, too. I've got everybody's sympathy," snaps John, and they are off and running.

At breakfast they are still at it as Blanche puts a bowl of rice in front of him.

Why hasn't Rapp brought the Bickersons to TV as a self-contained half-hour series?

"I had some half-hearted thoughts about it," he says, "but I never pursued it because I knew the networks would insist on a laugh track, and this would spoil the Bickersons.

Clark's Retirement

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Will Remove Conservative From High Court Bench

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Tom C. Clark's retirement by midyear will remove from the Supreme Court a generally conservative jurist who sometimes swung to the liberal side — especially with his neckties.

Clark, 67, said Tuesday he will retire by the end of the current court term in order to avoid any conflict resulting from the appointment of his son, Ramsey, as attorney general.

They did have a humorous conflict once: When the elder Clark was attorney general, Ramsey left an unsigned typewritten note in a suggestion box that said: "You ought not to wear bow ties. Bow ties do not give you the dignity which is attached to the office of attorney general. And if you are going to wear bow ties, do not wear such loud ones."

He is the fifth oldest of the nine judges, third in seniority and the last of President Harry S. Truman's three appointments remaining on the high court.

If Clark's successor turns out to be more conservative, the court could tilt in that direction: if more liberal, the now-tenuous liberal majority would be reinforced.

The white-haired, affable Clark took the judicial oath Aug. 24, 1949, filling the vacancy caused by the death of liberal Justice Frank Murphy. He was then 49 and had been Truman's attorney general four years.

The Senate approved the nomination 73 to 8. The eight Republicans opposing Clark were led by Sen. Homer Ferguson, R-Mich., who termed the appointment "transparently political."

Three years later, however, Clark voted against the president, lining up with a majority that struck down Truman's Korean wartime seizure of struck steel mills.

Court observers found it not easy to predict Clark's vote. But in the main, he tends to vote with the government.

An early important decision written by Clark for the court in May 1952 nullified a New York law under which censors had power to forbid showing of "sacrilegious" movies.

"The public should know the continuous flow of pornographic material reaching this court and the increasing problem states have in controlling it," he wrote.

Calling "Fanny Hill" typical, Clark said he had "stomached past cases for almost 10 years without much outcry. Though I am not known to be a purist — or a shrinking violet — this book is too much even for me."

Born in Dallas, Tex., Sept. 23, 1899, Clark was the first Texan appointed to the court. He was known as a protege of the powerful Texas Democrat, Sen. Tom Connally, and had spent 15 of his 25 years in law as a prosecutor or legal representative of government.

Top Floor Of Austin Hospital

Luci To Have Her Baby In Giant Maternity Ward

The doctor said the top floor of Holy Cross Hospital will be reserved for Mrs. Nugent and visitors.

The White House and the Patrick J. Nugents, however, maintained their silence on the prospects for a presidential grandchild.

The Secret Service will guard the special fifth-floor maternity setup, the doctor said, adding that an agent will be assigned to the baby at birth.

The doctor said the identity of Mrs. Nugent's obstetrician and the date of the expected delivery were both well-guarded secrets.

Luci, 19, has refused to tell her condition, once telling newsmen, "My marital status is a private affair, and I intend to keep it that way." She was married last Aug. 6.

But a spokesman for the hospital a Roman Catholic institution in keeping with Luci's faith, said some arrangements had been made for her to enter the hospital, but added, "I can't discuss anything with you for a couple of weeks. It's in the talking stage."

Published reports have said Luci's baby will be born in May or June, but she had not yielded in her determination to keep quiet about the baby. "We're not in the announcing business," she told a newsman last month.

The Austin doctor said that by clearing the floor of the 15-20 other patients, there would be plenty of space for labor, delivery and recovery rooms, a nursery and approved visitors. The hospital does not have a designated maternity ward.

Holy Cross, built in 1965 with the aid of Hill-Burton federal funds and dedicated last June, is a modern, yellow-brick building that contrasts sharply with the poor, predominantly Negro neighborhood around it.

Clark's Retirement

Will Remove Conservative From High Court Bench

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Tom C. Clark's retirement by midyear will remove from the Supreme Court a generally conservative jurist who sometimes swung to the liberal side — especially with his neckties.

Clark, 67, said Tuesday he will retire by the end of the current court term in order to avoid any conflict resulting from the appointment of his son, Ramsey, as attorney general.

They did have a humorous conflict once: When the elder Clark was attorney general, Ramsey left an unsigned typewritten note in a suggestion box that said: "You ought not to wear bow ties. Bow ties do not give you the dignity which is attached to the office of attorney general. And if you are going to wear bow ties, do not wear such loud ones."

But Tom Clark, in some ways a prototype Texan, standing over 6 feet tall, genial, talkative and with a Southern drawl, still likes bow ties.

He is the fifth oldest of the nine judges, third in seniority and the last of President Harry S. Truman's three appointments remaining on the high court.

If Clark's successor turns out to be more conservative, the court could tilt in that direction: if more liberal, the now-tenuous liberal majority would be reinforced.

The white-haired, affable Clark took the judicial oath Aug. 24, 1949, filling the vacancy caused by the death of liberal Justice Frank Murphy. He was then 49 and had been Truman's attorney general four years.

The Senate approved the nomination 73 to 8. The eight Republicans opposing Clark were led by Sen. Homer Ferguson, R-Mich., who termed the appointment "transparently political."

Three years later, however, Clark voted against the president, lining up with a majority that struck down Truman's Korean wartime seizure of struck steel mills.

Court observers found it not easy to predict Clark's vote. But in the main, he tends to vote with the government.

An early important decision written by Clark for the court in May 1952 nullified a New York law under which censors had power to forbid showing of "sacrilegious" movies.

The decision, the first to put movies under the protection of the First Amendment, was unanimous.

Yet, the same Clark spoke out in angry dissent last March when the court reversed a Massachusetts ban on the novel, "Fanny Hill."

"The public should know the continuous flow of pornographic material reaching this court and the increasing problem states have in controlling it," he wrote.

Calling "Fanny Hill" typical, Clark said he had "stomached past cases for almost 10 years without much outcry. Though I am not known to be a purist — or a shrinking violet — this book is too much even for me."

Born in Dallas, Tex., Sept. 23, 1899, Clark was the first Texan appointed to the court. He was known as a protege of the powerful Texas Democrat, Sen. Tom Connally, and had spent 15 of his 25 years in law as a prosecutor or legal representative of government.

Top Floor Of Austin Hospital

Luci To Have Her Baby In Giant Maternity Ward

An Austin doctor, who asked that his name not be disclosed, gave the first medical confirmation of Luci's pregnancy Tuesday.

The doctor said the top floor of Holy Cross Hospital will be reserved for Mrs. Nugent and visitors.

The White House and the Patrick J. Nugents, however, maintained their silence on the prospects for a presidential grandchild.

The Secret Service will guard the special fifth-floor maternity setup, the doctor said, adding that an agent will be assigned to the baby at birth.

The doctor said the identity of Mrs. Nugent's obstetrician and the date of the expected delivery were both well-guarded secrets.

Luci, 19, has refused to tell her condition, once telling newsmen, "My marital status is a private affair, and I intend to keep it that way." She was married last Aug. 6.

But a spokesman for the hospital a Roman Catholic institution in keeping with Luci's faith, said some arrangements had been made for her to enter the hospital, but added, "I can't discuss anything with you for a couple of weeks. It's in the talking stage."

Published reports have said Luci's baby will be born in May or June, but she had not yielded in her determination to keep quiet about the baby. "We're not in the announcing business," she told a newsman last month.

The Austin doctor said that by clearing the floor of the 15-20 other patients, there would be plenty of space for labor, delivery and recovery rooms, a nursery and approved visitors. The hospital does not have a designated maternity ward.

Holy Cross, built in 1965 with the aid of Hill-Burton federal funds and dedicated last June, is a modern, yellow-brick building that contrasts sharply with the poor, predominantly Negro neighborhood around it.

The fifth floor appears spacious. From the windows the nearby Capitol, University of Texas tower and federal office building where the President has his offices can be seen easily.

Company's Gates Main Target

Rights Forces Demanding Killer Of Negro Be Found

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights forces have made the gates of Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. their main target for marches in pressing demands that the killer of Wharlest Jackson be sought out and arrested.

About 2,000 Negroes marched to the plant gates Tuesday night and threw them open briefly, only to close them at the insistence of their leaders.

"If necessary, we'll go through those gates like a flood of water," shouted Charles Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He said that might happen soon.

Jackson, former treasurer of the Natchez branch of the NAACP, was killed Monday night when a bomb exploded in his pickup truck as he was driving home from work. A plant employe for 12 years, he had been promoted to a job previously held by white men.

Evers said marches would be staged in the downtown area today when shifts change.

Natchez officials have offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for the fatal bombing. Armstrong officials offered another $10,000.

City police and the FBI searched the truck wreckage for clues but Police Chief J.T. Robinson said that nothing concrete had been found.

"Where are the cowards who killed him?" Evers asked. "If you are there, come out where we can see you."

After Evers said the Negroes should "go over the fence" the gates were pushed open, but only a few Negroes stepped inside. They retreated when two of their leaders hustled over to them. As the crowd left a street sign was twisted and another was thrown over the fence.

"The Armstrong Rubber Co. has been among the leaders in Natchez in efforts to afford equal opportunity to all under the law, regardless of race, color or creed," the company said.

Robinson said he was optimistic the reward money would lead to an arrest. He said some plant employes had been questioned.

Evers said Jackson's funeral would be held Sunday. He called on Negroes to stay out of the downtown Natchez area Saturday in Jackson's memory.

Dispute Halted Publication Of Book, Kennedy Discloses

NEW YORK (AP) — The dispute between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row publishers over the book, "The Death of a President," apparently prompted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to halt publication of a book containing the senator's major speeches, it was learned today.

An announcement of publication of the senator's book, "New Problems, New Proposals," appeared in Harper & Row's winter catalogue last November.

"The first indication that there would be a delay came last December when the senator failed to send us the introduction to the book," said Thomas. "We sent some inquiries to Washington, but received no reply."

"He got a reply to everything he sent," a Kennedy aide said. "If he didn't it was simply because the senator didn't have time. Some material was not furnished. It was not completely buttonholed."

Cass Canfield, chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row, said that a few months ago, after part of the book already had been set in type, Kennedy suggested holding up publication for additional material.

"We both agreed to put in some more speeches," said Canfield.

The Kennedy aide said that to the best of his recollection the decision to postpone publication of the book was made sometime in late October or early November 1966.

"There hasn't been any discussion since the postponement," the aide said.

Democrats Hold Solid Control Of Chicago Council

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's regular Democratic organization retained lopsided control of the City Council Tuesday and Mayor Richard Daley emerged from an uncontested primary as a clear favorite to win a fourth term.

Republicans blamed the rugged winter, one of the worst in the city's history, for slowing the campaign against one of the nation's most effective Democratic machines. They promised a fight to the deadline for the April 4 mayoral election.

Two factors — white backlash and militant Negro revolt — failed to produce enough votes to seriously jar the Daley organization's control of the 50-seat City Council.

Improper Left Turn Charged In Accident

They said the youth was driving north on Market St., turned left onto W. Lincoln Way (Route 30) and struck the left side of a 1965 sedan driven by Hazel Allison, 40, of 220 E. Chestnut St.

Mrs. Allison, driving south on Market, also was turning west onto Lincoln Way.

UAW Plans To Press Rhodes About Laws

CLEVELAND (AP)—Officers and members of the United Auto Workers Union here planned a trip to Columbus today to petition Gov. James A. Rhodes to change Ohio's Unemployment Compensation laws.

The governor's schedule called for him to leave this morning on a trade mission to the Far East, but Joe Takacs, president of UAW Local 45, said the union men would talk to members of the legislature if they could not see the governor.

To $336 Billion

Congress To End Work On Raising Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third time since mid-December, the Treasury Department has juggled its books to keep the national debt from exceeding the legal limit. The end to touch-and-go debt management appears in sight.

Congress planned to complete action today on the Treasury's request to raise the debt ceiling from $330 billion to $336 billion, giving the department some breathing space it hasn't enjoyed for three months.

On Jan. 18, the department came within $74.96 million of the ceiling, the closest ever. It used unusual techniques — Republicans have called them gimmicks—to stay within the law.

The debt would have shot through the $330 billion ceiling Tuesday had it not been for the latest juggle. As it was officials estimated the debt rose to $329.9 billion as of the end of business Tuesday.

Since Dec. 1, the debt has fallen below $329 billion only once—on Jan. 30 when it was $328.87 billion.

Tuesday's juggle involved about $800 million in Treasury securities held by the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Civil Service Retirement Commission.

The Treasury redeemed these issues with cash it had on hand, thus reducing the debt and its cash balance by about $800 million. The three agencies bought the same type securities on the open market where they had already been charged against the debt.

In a related transaction, the department removed about $700 million in Treasury securities from the Exchange Stabilization Fund through a simple bookkeeping entry. This also had the effect of reducing the debt.

International transactions are handled through this fund. The $700 million will be replaced later by a reverse bookkeeping entry.

Consular Treaty Block By Senate Described Slim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl Mundt, a leading foe of the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty, conceded today chances of its being blocked by the Senate are slim.

"But I wouldn't say it's hopeless," Mundt added in the wake of these developments Tuesday which pointed toward ratification of the treaty when it comes up for consideration in about two weeks:

—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the pact 15 to 4.

—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced he had changed his mind and would vote for the treaty.

—Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, reversed an earlier position and voted for approval in the committee.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he thinks the treaty will easily get the two-thirds backing required for Senate approval.

Morton forecast 75 to 80 votes in favor of the pact.

"I think he's unduly optimistic," Mundt said. "I don't think you can get an accurate poll this early."

The South Dakota Republican contends the consular treaty should be rejected because the Soviet Union is supplying weapons to North Vietnam.

First white man to pass through Cumberland Gap was Gabriel Arthur, who, in 1673, went over the well - worn Indian trail, "Athawominee."

Company's Gates Main Target

Rights Forces Demanding Killer Of Negro Be Found

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights forces have made the gates of Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. their main target for marches in pressing demands that the killer of Wharlest Jackson be sought out and arrested.

About 2,000 Negroes marched to the plant gates Tuesday night and threw them open briefly, only to close them at the insistence of their leaders.

"If necessary, we'll go through those gates like a flood of water," shouted Charles Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He said that might happen soon.

Jackson, former treasurer of the Natchez branch of the NAACP, was killed Monday night when a bomb exploded in his pickup truck as he was driving home from work. A plant employe for 12 years, he had been promoted to a job previously held by white men.

Evers said marches would be staged in the downtown area today when shifts change.

Natchez officials have offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for the fatal bombing. Armstrong officials offered another $10,000.

City police and the FBI searched the truck wreckage for clues but Police Chief J.T. Robinson said that nothing concrete had been found.

Evers charged that the plant had hired members of the Ku Klux Klan and demanded "they be brought to justice."

Plant officials said they had no knowledge of any Klansman on their payroll.

The protest march Tuesday night was peaceful until the crowd arrived at the plant. Two guards were at the gate.

"Where are the cowards who killed him?" Evers asked. "If you are there, come out where we can see you."

After Evers said the Negroes should "go over the fence" the gates were pushed open, but only a few Negroes stepped inside. They retreated when two of their leaders hustled over to them. As the crowd left a street sign was twisted and another was thrown over the fence.

Plant officials issued a statement deploring Jackson's death and promising that $13,000 in life insurance would be paid to his widow.

"The Armstrong Rubber Co. has been among the leaders in Natchez in efforts to afford equal opportunity to all under the law, regardless of race, color or creed," the company said.

Robinson said he was optimistic the reward money would lead to an arrest. He said some plant employes had been questioned.

Evers said Jackson's funeral would be held Sunday. He called on Negroes to stay out of the downtown Natchez area Saturday in Jackson's memory.

Dispute Halted Publication Of Book, Kennedy Discloses

NEW YORK (AP) — The dispute between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row publishers over the book, "The Death of a President," apparently prompted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to halt publication of a book containing the senator's major speeches, it was learned today.

An announcement of publication of the senator's book, "New Problems, New Proposals," appeared in Harper & Row's winter catalogue last November.

"The first indication that there would be a delay came last December when the senator failed to send us the introduction to the book," said Thomas. "We sent some inquiries to Washington, but received no reply."

"He got a reply to everything he sent," a Kennedy aide said. "If he didn't it was simply because the senator didn't have time. Some material was not furnished. It was not completely buttonholed."

Cass Canfield, chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row, said that a few months ago, after part of the book already had been set in type, Kennedy suggested holding up publication for additional material.

"We both agreed to put in some more speeches," said Canfield.

The Kennedy aide said that to the best of his recollection the decision to postpone publication of the book was made sometime in late October or early November 1966.

"There hasn't been any discussion since the postponement," the aide said.

An industrial tour of Tokyo Friday will be the first event on the itinerary, O'Hara said before leaving, followed by an inspection of port facilities in Yokohoma as guests of that city's Chamber of Commerce.

The mission also is scheduled to visit Thailand, Formosa, the Philippines and Hawaii.

WEST POINT — The annual inspection was held during the meeting of the West Point Grange, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morlan, county deputies of the Subordinate and Junior grange, in charge.

Jack Pozenel, master, conducted the business meeting when an appeal to aid was answered, a donation was made to the Columbiana County 4-H clubs and members were reminded to support the American Red Cross Bloodmobile at the Methodist Church in Lisbon March 22.

The first and second degree was exemplified for Mr. and Mrs. James Mundy, Miss Kathy Smith, Mike Pozenel, Mrs. Mae McHenry, Mrs. Mary Kusior, all of the West Point Grange, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Logston of the Yellow Creek Grange.

Mrs. Jack Pozenel served as chairman of the hostess committee.

The next meeting will be March 10, with Mrs. Frank De Sellem and Mrs. Helen Taylor hostesses.

Democrats Hold Solid Control Of Chicago Council

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's regular Democratic organization retained lopsided control of the City Council Tuesday and Mayor Richard Daley emerged from an uncontested primary as a clear favorite to win a fourth term.

Daley, 64, first elected mayor in 1955, bettered his own prediction by more than 20,000 as he picked up 421,278 Democratic primary votes.

His opponent, industrialist John Waner, 52, who seeks to be Chicago's first Republican mayor in 40 years, received 73,092 primary votes against minimal opposition.

Republicans blamed the rugged winter, one of the worst in the city's history, for slowing the campaign against one of the nation's most effective Democratic machines. They promised a fight to the deadline for the April 4 mayoral election.

Two factors — white backlash and militant Negro revolt — failed to produce enough votes to seriously jar the Daley organization's control of the 50-seat City Council.

Improper Left Turn Charged In Accident

They said the youth was driving north on Market St., turned left onto W. Lincoln Way (Route 30) and struck the left side of a 1965 sedan driven by Hazel Allison, 40, of 220 E. Chestnut St.

Mrs. Allison, driving south on Market, also was turning west onto Lincoln Way.

UAW Plans To Press Rhodes About Laws

CLEVELAND (AP)—Officers and members of the United Auto Workers Union here planned a trip to Columbus today to petition Gov. James A. Rhodes to change Ohio's Unemployment Compensation laws.

The governor's schedule called for him to leave this morning on a trade mission to the Far East, but Joe Takacs, president of UAW Local 45, said the union men would talk to members of the legislature if they could not see the governor.

Congress To End Work On Raising Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third time since mid-December, the Treasury Department has juggled its books to keep the national debt from exceeding the legal limit. The end to touch-and-go debt management appears in sight.

Congress planned to complete action today on the Treasury's request to raise the debt ceiling from $330 billion to $336 billion, giving the department some breathing space it hasn't enjoyed for three months.

On Jan. 18, the department came within $74.96 million of the ceiling, the closest ever. It used unusual techniques — Republicans have called them gimmicks—to stay within the law.

The debt would have shot through the $336 billion ceiling Tuesday had it not been for the latest juggle. As it was officials estimated the debt rose to $329.9 billion as of the end of business Tuesday.

Exact figures won't be available until Friday.

Since Dec. 1, the debt has fallen below $329 billion only once—on Jan. 30 when it was $328.87 billion.

The department normally likes about $3 billion headroom in handling the debt.

Tuesday's juggle involved about $800 million in Treasury securities held by the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Civil Service Retirement Commission.

The Treasury redeemed these issues with cash it had on hand, thus reducing the debt and its cash balance by about $800 million. The three agencies bought the same type securities on the open market where they had already been charged against the debt.

In a related transaction, the department removed about $700 million in Treasury securities from the Exchange Stabilization Fund through a simple bookkeeping entry. This also had the effect of reducing the debt.

International transactions are handled through this fund. The $700 million will be replaced later by a reverse bookkeeping entry.

Consular Treaty Block By Senate Described Slim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl Mundt, a leading foe of the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty, conceded today chances of its being blocked by the Senate are slim.

"But I wouldn't say it's hopeless," Mundt added in the wake of these developments Tuesday which pointed toward ratification of the treaty when it comes up for consideration in about two weeks:

—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the pact 15 to 4.

—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced he had changed his mind and would vote for the treaty.

—Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, reversed an earlier position and voted for approval in the committee.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he thinks the treaty will easily get the two-thirds backing required for Senate approval.

Morton forecast 75 to 80 votes in favor of the pact.

"I think he's unduly optimistic," Mundt said. "I don't think you can get an accurate poll this early."

The South Dakota Republican contends the consular treaty should be rejected because the Soviet Union is supplying weapons to North Vietnam.

First white man to pass through Cumberland Gap was Gabriel Arthur, who, in 1673, went over the well - worn Indian trail, "Athawominee."

To Bring End To War

Mansfield Seeks Senate Unity On U.S. Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved today to unite the Senate behind a declaration of support for U.S. troops in Vietnam and for administration efforts to bring an end to the war there.

By fast parliamentary footwork, Mansfield got his proposal in for a vote ahead of various measures backed by the small band of senators who are outspoken against administration war policies.

The Senate plans to begin voting today on various riders to a $4.5 billion military authorization bill which has been under debate for a week.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., had expected to get an initial test on his proposal to put Congress on record in favor of requiring a declaration of war if bombing of North Vietnam is continued or troops commitments go above 500,000.

Clark stayed late in the Senate Tuesday night to make a speech in favor of his measure and to call it up formally so that it would be the first order of business today.

But Mansfield waited, too. When Clark had finished, he immediately offered his own proposal as a substitute for Clark's.

This meant the majority leader's language will be voted on first. If adopted, it will displace the Pennsylvanian's amendment. Chances for the Mansfield proposal appear excellent since it has appeal to all sides in the debate.

—Strong support "of efforts being made by the President of the United States and other men of good will" to prevent expansion of the war and bring a satisfactory negotiated settlement which would preserve the independence of South Vietnam.

—Backing for any sort of international gathering which would bring an honorable conclusion to the war. This would include reconvening of the 1954 Geneva Conference which ended French control in Vietnam.

New Red Sub-Bloc Aiming To Keep Germany Divided

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany are forging a new Communist sub-bloc dedicated to perpetuating the division of Germany.

Poland and Czechoslovakia take the first step in Warsaw today with the signing of a 20-year renewal of their 1947 friendship and assistance treaty.

Closing the triangle, East German government and Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht will travel to Warsaw and Prague in mid-March to sign similar pacts with Poland and Czechoslovakia, informed Communist sources said.

They said the result will be an "iron triangle" to secure East Germany against West Germany's territorial aspirations and its claims to represent the whole German people.

Some Western diplomats call it a "paper triangle" of pledges stemming from Polish and East German anxiety about the responsiveness of their southern allies to overtures from the new West German government in Bonn.

Evidence is mounting that Czechoslovakia's two northern neighbors plus the Soviet Union have stiffened Prague's resistance to opening diplomatic relations with Bonn unless the West Germans renounce their claim to speak for all of Germany.

Diplomats report a sharp change in the Czechoslovak attitude following a strong Soviet statement on Germany Jan. 28 and Romania's opening of diplomatic relations with West Germany the next week.

The Russians warned of neo-Nazism in West Germany and demanded recognition of the two German states. Previously Czechoslovakia had given the impression it would exchange ambassadors with Bonn if the Germans set no conditions.

The Czechoslovak press during February resumed publication of articles hostile to West Germany and played up Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka's demands for sweeping West German policy changes.

All three friendship and assistance pacts are expected to declare that present frontiers, including all those of East Germany, are inviolable and any attempt to change them would be aggression.

Wheeling Steel Reports '66 Loss Of $7.8 Million

WHEELING (AP) — Wheeling Steel Corp. President Robert Morris says sales for 1966 were up $23 million to $293 million, but the company sustained an operating loss of $7.8 million.

Morris, in a letter to stockholders Tuesday, said the company lost $4.6 million in 1965.

He blamed the continued loss on high operating costs, debt burdens, depreciation charges and a $14.1 million outlay for construction of a new hot strip mill and related facilities.

Morris said the earliest the company could be operating in the black would be September.

Scores Of Persons Flee Pittsburgh Fires

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fires in two sections of Pittsburgh chased scores of persons into the freezing cold night Tuesday.

Evacuated from a general alarm fire in the Homewood section were 24 children, residents of a rooming house destroyed by the flames. Firemen set damage at $27,000.

Earlier in the evening, five families had to flee when fire swept their apartment house on the North Side.

It's a blizzard.

POTATO SALAD
pt. 39c

Fresca is the new cold drink with the frosty, cold taste. And of course, it's sugar-free.

Icy, biting, bold, cold, frosty, wintry, breezy, shivering, shimmering, shuddering, stinging, springy, sparkling, splashing, nipping, chilling, lively, light, bright, brisk, bouncing, bubbling, piercing, nearly freezing, and almost shocking.

There's never been a taste so refreshing.
